Views Differ On Liner Grounding

MONTREAL (CP)—Blame for grounding of the liner Ascania July 2 off Big Island on her outward voyage from Montreal and Quebec was directed both at Pilot Henri Pouliot and the Dominion Department of Transport today when opposing counsel argued their cases before Mr. Justice Philippe Demers, sitting as Dominion wreck commissioner. The court reserved decision on the inquiry.

William Morin, counsel for the Transport Department, declared the pilot was responsible for the accident because of negligence in navigating.

Louis St. Laurent, counsel for Pilot Pouliot, replied the pilot had navigated the ship in accordance with usual practice and if the vessel struck a rock ledge it was because of lack of information and charting by the Dominion Department of Transport.

Lucien Beauregard, representing the owners, the Cunard line, agreed with Mr. St. Laurent the mishap had been due to "lack of accurate information."

The Ascania still is in drydock at Quebec under repairs for the hole in her hull. Her 333 passengers have long proceeded to England on other vessels.

SHIP AGROUND IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA (AP)—The British steamship City of Derby flashed a radio call for immediate assistance Tuesday night, reporting she was aground on Salina Island, centre of the Philippine group.

The 6,246-ton ship, registered from London, carried no passengers. A tug was ordered from Manila to aid the Derby.

The vessel was bound for Manila from China, New York and Los Angeles.

NEW YORK EXPECTS TO GREET ATLANTIC SOLO FLIER CORRIGAN

ment in an effort to get it released.

Corrigan spent the morning walking around the grounds of the United States legation, where he is under technical detention because of his arrival from New York yesterday without official papers. He is the guest of the minister, John Cudahy.

BORROWED PYJAMAS

The 31-year-old Californian who flew an aged $900 plane the "wrong way," crossed the Atlantic, set all England and Ireland talking and was proclaimed hero, slept late in the guest bed of the United States legation. He wore pyjamas borrowed from the minister.

He had the matter of the legality of his landing to settle with Irish officials, but men with names like Corrigan and Cudahy are not likely to have trouble here getting over a technical difficulty when it concerns a flight like Corrigan's to Dublin.

The "crate" that took him the 3,150 miles from New York to Dublin's Baldonnel Airdrome between 1.17 a.m., P.S.T., Sunday and 6.30 a.m., P.S.T., Monday was locked up at Baldonnel to safeguard it from souvenir hunters.

Under the Air Navigation Pact, United States fliers are permitted to land in Eire on unscheduled flights if their passports are in order. But Corrigan did not bring a passport. Such a document is not needed to fly from New York to California, as Corrigan insisted he thought he was doing until he sighted Irish shores.

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Douglas Corrigan today faced a warm and probably profitable welcome home and nothing worse than a spanking out behind the hangar at the hands of a forgiving government.

For a transatlantic flight violating all the rules, a daring unpiloted ocean hop before a world now yawning over fliers who can let a robot do the heavy work and reach announced destinations on schedule, riches may be the reward if Corrigan will take them.

Stifling snickers that turned to open-mouthed amazement and then to admiration, persons of influence indicated his penalty, if any, for nose-thumbing the authorities would be light.

From Denis Mulligan, head of the federal Bureau of Air Commerce, on the official side, to the Irish-American societies of New York, on the sentimental, the flight so caught imagination the policy was to forgive—and to forget so far as a welcome is concerned.

FINE POSSIBLE

Mulligan, torn between the pride of the "ould sod" and duty—the maximum United States penalty for flying the ocean without a permit is a $500 fine and loss of pilot's license—asserted between chuckles that something would have to be done. His first concern was to prevent "Incorrigible Corrigan" from jumping into his ship and flying home.

Corrigan promised interviewers in Ireland he would not attempt to back-track his uncharted trail across the Atlantic, a route carefully traversed six previous times by aviators flying solo and mainly with elaborate instruments as aids—certainly in planes prettier than Corrigan's obsolete Curtiss Robin, 1929 model.

FAIR SUGGESTIONS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Leland W. Cutler, president of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, radioed two suggestions to Douglas G. Corrigan at Dublin:

"How about naming your plane Treasure Island in honor of California's world fair of next year and continuing around the world?"

Treasure Island is the name of the site of the Golden Gate International Exposition in San Francisco Bay next year.

PLANE RAIDS

HANKOW (AP)—Four Japanese bombs fell on the American Church Mission's Boone University campus during a raid Tuesday on Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, killing 20 Chinese seeking shelter under an old wall.

The university is in Wuchang, across the Yangtze River from Hankow, provisional capital of China.

How Iron Lung Patient is Seeking Trail to Health

In the air-conditioned de luxe trailer pictured above at Miami, Fred B. Snite Jr., who crossed the Pacific Ocean in an "iron lung" after a serious illness, is traveling in Florida with the breathing machine which has preserved his life for many months. Literally a rolling home, the trailer carries a kitchen, radio, hot and cold water, and electric refrigerator. By a system of mirrors over the "iron lung," Snite is able to see all what goes on outside.

Ireland-Montreal Flight Tomorrow

MONTREAL (CP)—The pickaback plane Mercury probably will take off from Foynes, Ireland, at 7 p.m., British Summer Time (10 a.m., P.S.T.), tomorrow on a transatlantic nonstop flight to Montreal.

The British plane is expected to reach here in about 18 hours, or around 4 a.m., P.S.T., Thursday, according to a cablegram received here today by Trans-Canada Airlines officials.

The payload will be half a ton, consisting chiefly of newsreels and photographs of King George's reception at Paris today, press dispatches and copies of English and Irish newspapers. Most of the material is destined for New York, for which the plane is expected to depart shortly after refueling here.

The pilot will be Captain Donald C. T. Bennett, one of the foremost air navigators of the British Empire, and the wireless operator, Albert Coster.

FROM SOUTHAMPTON

FOYNES, IRELAND (AP)—The Mercury and Maia, components of Britain's pickaback plane, arrived today at Foynes for tomorrow's takeoff by the Mercury for an Atlantic crossing.

They flew separately from Southampton, England, but tomorrow the Mercury will be launched from the Maia's back.

CAMPBELL RIVER FIRE NOW SWEEPS 10,000-ACRE AREA

WITHIN HORSESHOE

The east flank of the blaze was approximately two miles west of Campbell River, working southwest. The fire is in the shape of a horseshoe running south of Campbell River, west around Quinsam Lake and then north to Camp Eight of the Elk River Timber Company. The fire was reported within the bounds of this horseshoe, except at the point where it vaulted the Quinsam River.

About 20 miles south of the fire front 90,000,000 feet of bucked timber may be menaced if conditions grow worse.

Every available piece of equipment is being rushed into the fire zone from all sources. Government equipment has been supplemented by caterpillar tractors, bulldozers and pumps from the various logging camps, and many of the crews have been days with little sleep.

OPERATION BURNED OUT

Brown's logging operations, adjoining the Elk River Timber Company's stand, has been burned over and the timber there was reported a total loss.

A change in the wind might endanger the lives of about 50 persons at the Elk River Camp, but every precaution is being taken in this territory.

OTHER ISLAND FIRES

Additional fires reported today to the Forestry Department were at Squamish, 160 acres at Lucille Lake, 22 men fighting, under control; Nanaimo, two new small fires at Coombs reported yesterday, but dead today; Nanaimo River, fire held by 30 men; Northwest Bay, at Nanosee, several small new fires, but of no consequence; Deerholme, six acres burning, but under control; Vedder River, near Chilliwack, small fire, under control; 45 men fighting; Alberni, Victoria and Dame. One struck in the yard of a German civilian's residence.

A checkup in all sections of the tricity area placed the civilian casualty total at about 150 killed and wounded.

Lilac Is Color For Late Queen

BUCHAREST (AP)—Dowager Queen Marie, in letters opened today, requested that dark lilac be the color of mourning for her and that her heart be buried at her favorite resort on the Black Sea.

King Carol's mother, who figured largely in the destiny of Roumania for a generation, died yesterday of a liver disease at the age of 62.

In letters written June 29, 1933, the queen explained lilac was her favorite color and that she preferred it to the usual black. The letters have not yet been made public, but officials said they would be in a day or two. One of them was addressed to her subjects.

Although the body of the queen will be buried at the palace of Kurtes de Argesch beside the remains of her husband, King Ferdinand, she requested that her heart be embalmed and taken in a special urn to Baileac on the Black Sea.

The body lay in state in the great hall of the palace today. It was clad in a white velvet dress and a gold amulet had been placed on the breast.

NICHOLAS RETURNS

The death of their mother brought at least temporary reconciliation between Marie's two sons, King Carol and Nicholas Brana.

The king summoned his brother—the former Prince Nicholas, shorn of his titles and in exile in Italy since April 26, 1937, for marrying a commoner—to attend the funeral, but warned him he must leave Roumania immediately after the ceremonies.

Special cheap railroad fares will be instituted to enable poor people to visit Bucharest for farewells to their former queen.

Musie was forbidden throughout Roumania, amusement places were closed—until after the funeral and masses were conducted throughout the country.

troops lined the route. Ten thousand Mobile Guards, 20,000 policemen and 20,000 reserve of fliers worked with the soldiers to make a solid wall of protection for Their Majesties.

The troops, commanded by General Gaston Billote, military governor of the capital, included 20 infantry regiments, five cavalry regiments, several battalions of Zouaves, African riflemen and Moroccans. Detachments from the St. Cyr Military Academy and the Naval Academy also lined the route of the march.

Twenty-five thousand foreigners, including more than 1,000 Americans, were questioned by the police during the morning in precautionary measures for the visitors' safety.

Thousands of British and United States tourists joined the cheering throngs along the route.

A police driflight followed the royal procession from the station to the Quai d'Orsay, almost touching the rooftops, from which thousands watched.

The automobiles carrying the King and Queen and President and Mrs. Lebrun were so surrounded by cavalymen that few of the 2,000,000 got even a glimpse of their faces.

Viscount Halifax, Britain's Foreign Secretary, who accompanied the sovereigns, rode with Premier Daladier, and the two statesmen appeared to be in earnest conversation even as the procession started.

With Georges Bonnet, French Foreign Minister, and Rt. Hon. Leslie Hore-Belisha, British War Secretary, they will begin formal conversations intended to tighten the Anglo-French alliance in the face of the solidarity of Germany and Italy, whose rulers conferred during a similar visit of state to Rome by Reichsfuehrer Hitler little more than two months ago.

TOMORROW'S EVENTS

ARRIVAL AT BOULOGNE

BOULOGNE, France (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth came to France today aboard the Admiralty yacht Enchantress for the first visit of state of British monarchs to France in a quarter century.

Thirty-seven minutes after their arrival in this channel port, the Sovereigns entrained for Paris with Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, and the royal suite.

The flower of the French navy, ranged before the port of Boulogne, boomed a 21-gun salute and hoisted the British flag as the Enchantress entered at 12.30 p.m. (3.30 a.m., P.S.T.)

The King set foot on French soil at 12.50 p.m. and left by train for Paris at 1.07 p.m.

The battleship Dunquerque, five cruisers and six destroyers formed a double line outside the port, and through that line the Enchantress, which had been met in mid-channel by seven other destroyers, passed.

BONDS GROW STRONGER

Two more destroyers and two submarines which were at anchor in the harbor joined in the salute to the British monarchs, who came to reaffirm the friendship of Great Britain and France, probably stronger than at any time since the Great War.

Crews of all ships lined the decks and cheered, while ship's bands played God Save the King.

As soon as the Enchantress had docked, Georges Bonnet, France's Foreign Minister, went aboard to greet the King and Queen.

To Queen Elizabeth, wearing black with a knot of white flowers on her left shoulder, he presented a bouquet of French roses.

The Enchantress, steamed into Boulogne as the giant Britannia statue, standing guard at the entrance of the port, was being unveiled.

SHAKE HANDS

M. Bonnet was accompanied by Sir Eric Phipps, Britain's ambassador to France. The King, in the blue and gold uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet, stepped forward smiling—and shook—M. Bonnet's right hand while the latter was still gripping the Queen's flowers in his left hand.

M. Bonnet then bowed to the Queen and presented the bouquet.

The unveiling of the Britannia Monument, which marks the place where British soldiers first set foot in France in 1914 to fight in the Great War, was an impressive prelude to the landing.

As the yacht passed the breakwater, the King appeared on the bridge, turned toward the statue and saluted it. At that instant, Marshal Henri Petain of France and Field Marshal Lord Cavan, standing beside the monument, unveiled it. The King continued in salute until the British and French flags had slowly fallen, revealing the memorial to thousands of spectators, who cheered.

CHILDREN SING

The King then reviewed the guard of honor drawn up on the dock while hundreds of school children sang the British National Anthem in English then the Marseillaise in French.

The King and Queen and their party then proceeded afoot to the Paris-bound train awaiting nearby.

Troops presented arms and the officers of the Enchantress stood at salute while the train pulled out.

The express was painted royal blue, and bore the arms of the King and the initials of the French Republic.

The King stood in the doorway saluting while the Queen waved and smiled. The Queen wore two strings of pearls, her favorite dark-red fox fur and a black silk coat, trimmed in silver fox fur. The King wore the red sash of the French Legion of Honor around the waist of his Admiral's uniform.

M. Bonnet left on a fast train for Paris a short time before the royal train departed so he could reach the capital in time to greet the Sovereigns there.

The full state reception was reserved for Paris.

GASOLINE FINES

TOTAL $65,000

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone today sustained the conviction of 17 of 46 defendants found guilty last January of a conspiracy to raise and fix mid-western gasoline prices in the United States in 1935 and 1936. He fined these defendants—12 companies and five executives—a total of $65,000.

The judge dismissed the charges as to 10 other executives and one corporation and found the remaining defendants—45 officials and three firms—were entitled to a new trial because they had been linked to the

Roumanian Plans Atlantic Flight

NEW YORK (AP)—A Roumanian air force officer plans to take off probably Thursday on the first nonstop New York-to-Bucharest flight in the history of North-Atlantic crossings, and thereby hangs a story of $50,000 which went out the window.

Almost a year ago Capt. Alexander Papan's flight to his homeland was announced formally. He would use a specially built tri-motored speed plane.

Difficulties developed. Papan said the plane, manufactured in this country, failed to meet his specifications. The makers refused a refund. He went to court. The litigation dragged on.

He decided to recoup his financial loss. Systematically he began appearing at air shows—Cleveland, St. Louis, Miami, Oakland and other points. His flattened purse got fatter. Late last spring he had accumulated enough money to plank down the purchase price of another plane.

Yesterday he flew from Detroit to Hartford, Conn., where he was completing his preparations to leave Floyd Bennett Field here within a few days.

FLIER MISSING FOR THREE WEEKS

BOSTON (AP)—A sister of Davis E. Smith, Detroit flier missing since he left Detroit in a rebuilt monoplane June 29, suggested today he might have attempted a trans-Atlantic hop. The craft was similar to that in which Douglas Corrigan of Los Angeles completed a New York to Dublin hop yesterday.

FRANCO BOMB HITS BRITISH VESSEL

She is owned by the Stanhope Shipping Company of London, all of whose vessels have names beginning with "Stan."

OTHERS BOMBED

Among the "Stans" trading with the Spanish government which have been bombed by insurgent airplanes have been the Stanbrook, Stancroft, Stanbridge, Stanwell, Stanray and Stanwood.

The insurgents had given British ships in Spanish government ports a rest of nearly a month after it was believed Prime Minister Chamberlain had put pressure on Premier Mussolini of Italy, Franco's friend, to have the raids stopped.

One person was killed and five injured in a raid on Alcira, south of Valencia, by a lone seaplane, dubbed "zapatoles," or "big shoes." This plane has constantly been raiding the Valencia coast, and during May and June was considered responsible for the sinking of several British ships.

BRITISH SURGEON WINS TEST CASE

DESIRED TEST

Dr. Bourne had insisted on being prosecuted in order to test Great Britain's rarely invoked statute against operations to prevent motherhood.

Dr. Bourne said the girl undoubtedly suffered injuries when she was attacked by the Guardsmen which might have affected her ability to give birth without danger. The age and temperament of the young girl also very strongly influenced his decision to operate, the physician declared.

The main question in the trial was whether operations could be performed only to save a prospective mother's life or also for the sake of her health and future.

Three troopers of the Horse Guards were detained June 30 as a result of the attack. Two later were sentenced to four years' penal servitude, one for assault, and the other for abetting the assault. The third was imprisoned for 22 months for attempted assault.

alleged conspiracy only by circumstantial evidence.

Among the individual defendants, whose convictions stand, is Charles E. Arnett, New York, vice-president of the Socony Vacuum Oil Company, alleged by the government to have been the "master mind" of the conspiracy.

Arnett and four executives were fined $1,000 each.

Rev. W. Niemoeller Scores Nazi Leaders

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — Rev. Wilhelm Niemoeller, brother of imprisoned Pastor Martin Niemoeller, yesterday bitterly attacked the Nazi government's war on the church in a sermon at the Jesus Christus Evangelical Church in suburban Dahlem during a special service for the jailed pastor.

"When one slams the door on Christ," he cried, "one opens it to anti-Christ."

Rev. Martin Niemoeller, a U-boat commander during the Great War, was sentenced to prison early this year for his repeated denunciations of Nazi religious policy, and subsequently he was transferred to the Sachsenhausen concentration camp.

REBEL WIN IN SPAIN FORESEEN

Correspondent Says Civil War Will Drag on Many Months, Settle Nothing

Last week-end brought the second anniversary of the war in Spain. Charles P. Nutter, who since last September 8 has been chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Madrid, reviews the war in the following uncensored story. Mr. Nutter has just returned to New York for a vacation.

NEW YORK (AP) — I left Spain convinced, on the basis of present indications, that the war, now entering its third year, will drag on for many weary months to an inevitable insurgent victory.

The conflict will probably end as it began—with mass murder—and the end will settle none of the major issues.

Hundreds of thousands of persons undoubtedly will be killed. Billions of dollars more of property will be destroyed before the battered government forces finally collapse.

VALENCIA IS SAFE

The present summer drive is on Valencia, which never will be taken frontally should the government make a real stand, as it unquestionably will.

Valencia is as difficult to take as Madrid, which was impossible. The insurgents more likely will try to swing out and around Valencia to isolate it from Madrid. Madrid still has other connecting roads to the coast. However, and after Madrid there is always Catalonia, which might hold out for years, and Estramadura and Andalusia, where resistance will go on for some time, anyway.

Foreign pressure for an armistice is the best hope for peace now. That seems impossible, however, because of positions adopted by both sides.

THREE WEAKNESSES

The government's three weaknesses are in order of their importance, lack of airplanes and heavy guns, lack of gasoline for motor transport, and a war-weary civilian population anxious for peace at almost any cost.

Attacks on its shipping and the sinking of many oil tankers has dealt the government a vital blow. Receipt of new gasoline and oil stocks is essential to continued resistance in the central area where stocks are running low.

OLD FRIEND OF HITLER ARRESTED

BERLIN (AP) — Reinhold Wulle, publisher and nationalist who hid Adolf Hitler for weeks in 1923, is under arrest with his wife and several members of his publication staff, it was disclosed yesterday.

Wulle and his wife were seized by the Gestapo (secret police) on July 14. Several of his co-workers were taken as they reported for work. The Gestapo refused to give any reasons.

Wulle, 55, ran a little publishing house known as the National Book Service.

Wulle successively was editor of the Dresden Nachrichten, the Chemnitz Allgemeine Zeitung and the Berlin Deutsches Tageblatt. He was a member of the Reichstag from 1920 to 1924 and of the Prussian Diet from 1924 to 1928 as representative of the German race freedom party, which stood for many of the things Hitler advocated.

CCC Program For Canada?

Provincial and federal government investigation of the United States CCC program as a basis for the institution of a Canadian works measure was recommended by the City Council yesterday.

The council unanimously supported a motion by Alderman W. H. Davies in which he pointed out the advantages which the Civilian Conservation Corps program had brought to the United States and the manner in which it had assisted labor out of the depression.

TRAVEL NOW AT ITS PEAK

R. Creelman, C.N.R. Passenger Traffic Manager, Says Increase General

WINNIPEG — Increase in the number of Americans traveling in Canada and in tourist travel in general, and the continued movement of western Canadians journeying eastward to embark for holidays in the east and Great Britain is "most noticeable," according to figures by Robert Creelman, passenger traffic manager, Canadian National Railways.

The increase has been noted in virtually every phase of travel. In the central west many parties of American anglers have concentrated in forest, lake districts, the national parks of the prairie provinces, at Riding Mountain in Manitoba and Prince Albert in Saskatchewan, have experienced excellent registrations.

That a large percentage are looking even farther northward for their annual vacations is indicated in bookings for the excursion to the port of Churchill, this year, August 12 to 18.

Mountain resorts are maintaining their popularity. Illustrative was the opening registration at Jasper Park, double that of 1937. The lodge is now heavily booked for the balance of the season. Minikinnick Inn and its northern environment on the Lake of the Woods sector of western Ontario is being patronized largely by Canadians and Americans from the mid-west.

Travel figures to the Pacific coast from western Canada continue about the same as last year. The Alaska cruise from Vancouver is again proving one of the most popular of short ocean voyages. Scots are providing the impetus resulting in increased travel to Great Britain and the continent. From the west has come an unprecedented number of reservations for passage to Glasgow, scene of the Empire Exhibition.

INQUIRY INTO PLANE CRASH

SEATTLE (AP) — Lieut. Commander W. L. Lator said today an immediate investigation would be made by a board of inquiry from the cruiser Louisville into the crash yesterday of a navy seaplane in the Snohomish River, four miles south of Everett. Two fliers were killed.

The dead are Aviation Cadet J. C. Booth, 29, of Glendale, Calif., who was piloting the plane, and J. C. Monti, a pharmacist's mate.

Coast Mills Get Big Lumber Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Lumber Manufacturers' Association today said new lumber orders reported during the week ended July 9 were the highest in 11 months. This was despite the fact the week was shortened by holidays.

Orders booked by 522 mills aggregated 235,146,000 feet. The same mills produced 171,018,000 feet, shipped 199,220,000 and booked orders for 223,298,000 feet.

Air Bomb Blasts British Ship

An aerial bomb—seen in this remarkable picture at the instant it struck and exploded—toppled the mast of the British freighter Arlon as she lay in Valencia harbor. With nearly 60 British ships destroyed in the Spanish war, the bombing of the Arlon caused repercussions in Parliament, where it precipitated a severe attack on Premier Chamberlain and his policy.

West Coast Ports For Use In War

England May Restore "Forgotten" Ports Famous in England

By EDWIN JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—Announcement by Leslie Burgin, Minister of Transport, that consideration was being given by the government to diversion of shipping from the east to the west coast in time of war, has focussed interest on Great Britain's "forgotten" ports.

Of the places that sent great fleets of men-of-war and merchantmen to sea during the middle ages, some are now picturesque fishing villages, drawing more profit from tourists than their ships. Some accommodate only ferries and yachts. Others have fallen into near decay.

The minister's statement has aroused hopes in these communities that their lost importance and prestige will be restored to a position where they will form a vital part of Britain's defensive bulwark.

The harbors brought back into the limelight dot the coast from Plymouth, round the Cornish shoreline, by the Severn mouth to Wales and north to the Clyde.

Fowey, Cornwall's famous little harbor that now traffics chiefly in the local china-clay, sent 40 ships to the siege of Calais, in the reign of Edward III Ilfracombe provided six.

Portsmouth, impressive home of the modern navy, was put in the shade centuries ago as a seat of naval power by the port of Lymington which now berths only yachts, ferries and a few small coastal craft.

Among the "lost" harbors of the south coast which owe their extinction to the vicarities of drifting sand, Winchelsea, New Romney and Sandwich, were once proud members of the Cinque ports, England's strongest barrier to the invader. Their Lord Warden was once bound to provide 57 ships, fully equipped and manned, for the King's service.

Man Dies From Barge Injuries

VANCOUVER—James Senior, 36, died in hospital late yesterday a few hours after he suffered severe internal and head injuries in a fall from a dredging barge on which he was employed.

No one witnessed the accident. Workmen aboard the barge "N.D.B. No. 7," owned by McKenzie Barge and Derrick Company, said the youth was working at alone. He was believed to have struck a fender log at the water's edge in falling.

C.N.R. APPOINTMENT

MONTREAL—Succeeding the late G. P. MacLaren, whose death recently ended a career associated with the lumber industry of western Canada, W. E. Evans of Detroit has been appointed general tie and timber agent of Canadian National Railways at Montreal. Mr. Evans has been purchasing agent for the Grand Trunk western lines at Detroit since 1927 and associated with the railway for more than 30 years.

SYDNEY, N.S. With her husband, also seriously burned, Mrs. Parsons was brought in an open boat from the island off Cape Breton Island's eastern tip. Meanwhile fishermen, searching the ashes of the ruined dwelling, found the bodies of two children.

The King and Queen in Paris

IF ANY NEW EVIDENCE WERE NECESSARY to demonstrate to the world at large that the relations between the peoples and the governments of Great Britain and France were never more cordial than they are at the present time, the state visit of King George the Sixth and Queen Elizabeth to Paris is providing it in abundance. Nothing that could contribute to the enjoyment and edification of Their Majesties seems to have been overlooked. Nor may it be out of place to suggest, moreover, that the warmth of the Republic's welcome, following weeks of preparation and joyous anticipation, should give pause to those in high places in other European capitals who have been burning the midnight oil in their efforts to find a way to divide the purpose of the two great democracies.

Those of us who can recall the feeling that ran high in Britain over the Dreyfus case, the hair-trigger atmosphere which the Fashoda incident generated, the irritation which certain French newspapers and cartoonists caused the Royal House and the British Government at times during the Boer War, can also recall that it was none other than the present King's grandfather—King Edward the Seventh—who laid the foundations for the Entente Cordiale which has preserved, since the early days of the century, the measure of understanding and friendship between the two nations that adds to the significance and sincerity of the proceedings which are to mark the official stay of Their Majesties on French soil.

Thirty-five years have elapsed since President Loubet and the citizens of Paris gave King Edward the Seventh a cordial greeting to France on his return from a visit to the Kings of Portugal and Italy. Two months afterward, in the July of 1903, M. Loubet visited London, and the statesmen at Westminster, and at the Quai d'Orsay began to feel that the old animosity and mistrust had been buried forever. The grandfather of the present distinguished guest of France had become known as Edward the "Peacemaker." This reputation, by the way, was confirmed in the years which followed, the royal hand making its unobtrusive appearance in the progress of foreign affairs, but in a manner to which the old-fashioned politicians were by no means accustomed. It was none the less evident to all with ordinary intelligence that the enthusiastic spontaneity with which the London crowds greeted President Fallieres in 1908 clearly marked the Entente as a practical working organism in the interests of democracy in the fullest sense of the term.

It is fitting to remember that there have been times, even since the mingling of Anglo-French blood in the fight against the common enemy, when British and French governments have disagreed—the invasion of the Ruhr is a specific case in point—but in circumstances which have placed their joint resolve and mutual interests against the nefarious scheming of the authoritarian and brutalitarian states, the Entente Cordiale of Edwardian days has held firm. Thus the presence in Paris today of the grandson of its author, the second son of the great and good King George the Fifth who carried out the undertaking in practice, will combine an inspiration to the peoples of the two nations with a warning to all potential disturbers of the peace.

Marie of Roumania

IT WILL ALWAYS BE SAID OF QUEEN Marie of Roumania that despite the many cruel blows which the course of her family life dealt her she never lost her sense of proportion or permitted the dignity of her bearing to be influenced in the least. Before she had reached the age of 20 she had become the bride of the Hohenzollern Prince Ferdinand, and from the day she took up her royal position in the country of her adoption she reflected more than a little of the cosmopolitanism of her ancestry and an aptitude for the responsibilities she was destined to accept when her husband ascended the throne shortly before the outbreak of the Great War. Her English birth, of course, was responsible for the influence she brought to bear on Roumania's decision to enter the conflict on the side of the Allies.

Twelve years ago Queen Marie visited Canada and the United States on a mission of goodwill and in search of financial assistance for her country. Her great personal charm, her democratic outlook and versatility, her comprehensive knowledge of affairs, won for her the universal friendship of this continent. A few days before that tour was scheduled to end, news of her husband's illness caused her to hasten home. For some years after his death, however, she remained a force in Roumanian politics, especially while the young son of Prince Carol occupied the Throne, but since the sordid affairs of the present monarch have been more or less brought into some semblance of order she has borne her trials in retirement with that same quality of dignity and fortitude which marked her life, first as Ferdinand's Princess, and for thirteen years his Queen. Thus the passing of Marie of Roumania closes another colorful chapter in the history of the royal houses of Europe.

Belt-tightening in Italy

MUSSOLINI HAS JUST ASSURED HIS people again that Italy will have enough wheat and will not have to import large quantities during the coming crop year. His assurances may go for home consumption, but outsiders, through experience, are inclined to discount them. It seems there is all the more reason for skepticism in this instance for Mussolini spoke just after two high officials of the Italian Ministry of Finance had visited London with the delegation of Italian industrialists to the International Wool Conference. These two met the Export Credit Guarantee Department of the British Government and their business had to do with the disastrous wheat shortage faced by Mediterranean countries, particularly Italy. It was estimated Italy would have to spend about $100,000,000 for wheat imports this autumn. Her concern arose from the fact that she lacked the foreign currency for the purchases. The Italian officials asked London for the necessary credits. However, the Export Credit Guarantee Department apparently turned them down.

As a result, bread will be of inferior quality in Italy during the coming year. Italian bakers will have to use a 20 per cent mixture of corn and other substitute flours to cover part of the wheat deficit. Bread rationing may become necessary. In government circles, the failure to provide enough domestic wheat to feed the population is felt keenly as Mussolini's "battle of wheat" was a key item in the Fascist self-sufficiency drive. "Our wheat supply and wheat surplus," Il Duce had said, "will make possible our armament program and more: it will see it through." But, he is not talking about the "battle of wheat" in Italy today. It must be dawning on some of his people that they cannot eat cannon.

Tear Gas Has Another Use

DURING THE WORLD WAR, TEAR GAS was one of the weapons of military offence. Many a crucial objective was gained while its defenders were weeping, helplessly, like small boys. Today, tear gas is the weapon used by police to reduce jobless or other crowds, temporarily, to non-resistance. But tomorrow, tear gas will come into a new use and one far removed from violence. It will help produce weed-free putting greens for our golfers!

J. A. DeFrance, of the Rhode Island Experiment Station, traces the use of tear gas to kill weeds back to the shell-battered No Man's Land of France. The gas squads of wartime contained men trained in chemistry. One of them noticed that where the tear gas liquid spread on the ground, weeds were quickly killed. Out of this remembrance has come soil sterilization by tear gas which renders the future soil of golf greens free of weeds.

In the present practice the soil destined for the green is placed in a large box and several holes drilled in the earth. Down each hole are poured a few drops of liquid tear gas, a canvas cover applied and left for about two days. The soil is then removed and placed directly on the golf green and seeded. All the weeds in the soil are killed and the grass takes root without competition from its fast-growing rivals. The putting green is thus free from weed contamination until wind-blown weed seeds alight on it and take root, something which is not too easy when a thick, velvety coat of grass is already there first in husky growth. Commonest sterilization method for greenhouse soils has been the application of live steam, while heat, applied by flame, is often used in outdoors locations such as highway road-sides and railroad rights-of-way.

It has been discovered that sunspots stop radios, but nothing in nature can stop a commercial plug.

A housing survey shows the average living-room has 2.5 windows. It must be that five-tenths of a window the breeze comes through these days.

Overcrowded conditions in some eastern prisons have forced some prisoners to sleep in the corridors. It is punishment enough to put a man in prison without making him live like a convention delegate.

FIXING MINIMUM WHEAT PRICES

From Winnipeg Free Press
How shall the initial minimum wheat price be fixed by the Canadian Wheat Board? Mr. M. J. Coldwell of the C.C.F. had a ready-made solution of this difficult question. He proposed to the House of Commons that the government should ascertain the average cost of producing a bushel of wheat and delivering it to Fort William, and that the price should be set at that level, which, he stated, was $1.03. He asked for "a fair and just price" for western producers, by which one presumes he means cost of production plus a certain profit.

It is not likely that Mr. Coldwell's demand will be met, for it does not take long to figure out what the consequences would be. If the wheat growers, the members of Canada's most important industry, are to be guaranteed by government a return equal to cost of production plus profit, there is no reason on earth why the grower of every other agricultural product should not get the same guarantee. Nor indeed why government should not guarantee the price of every other commodity, be it grown in field, forest or stream, off the coasts of the country or under its surface as well. Let everybody be guaranteed on everything, and Canada lands itself at one large jump into the full-fledged socialization of production, distribution and exchange. This is a condition which cannot be contemplated with any ease of mind, and it is one which can be demonstrably shown to be disastrous to the future of Canada. For this reason alone it is clear that Mr. Coldwell's airy suggestion will not be adopted by the government or the Wheat Board.

Loose Ends

WASTED KNOWLEDGE

A CORPS of delightful young professors from the University of British Columbia is inhabiting the Parliament Buildings these days, marking matriculation examination papers. I often wonder what happens to the papers after the professors have marked them. Are they filed away in some huge, dank government vault and indexed for posterity? Or are they burned in the furnace? If so, it is a ruthless destruction of knowledge, for no man ever knows as much again in his life as during his matriculation examinations. When I think of all the information I had when I wrote mine, it makes me wonder what I have been doing all these years since.

I suppose no man but the professors reading the papers could pass these tests, and yet all this heaped-up and concentrated learning is thrown away and the student never recaptures it again. The Department of Education at least should return the papers to the students so that they may have them for reference and for proof to their children later on that at one time they did know something. Most of us can never prove that to our young. They think we were always as profoundly ignorant as we are now.

PAYING BACK

MR. JOHN HART apparently is feeling good these days and there is a certain air of well-being in the northeast corner of the Parliament Buildings. Mr. Hart had paid off a $2,000,000 loan out of income, actually reduced debt. It is an amazing thing in a province which has heaped up debt steadily at the rate of $6,000,000 a year for 25 years; a province which had no debt at all in 1912 and now owes around $150,000,000 net.

However, it is relatively easy to reduce debt when your revenues are breaking all records. The difficult thing is to avoid borrowing again. Always in the past, whenever we have had an inch of slack to take up, a dollar in the bank, a willing lender, we have splurged. When things were good in 1912 we started to borrow. Again, after the war we plunged. In the boom of the late twenties we piled up debt at the rate of $1,000,000 a month.

Now, it seems, things are easier again. We are recovering a little. So you can depend upon it that we shall shortly invite ourselves to another potlatch. The politicians will be blamed for it, but it is always the public that demands it, forces the politicians along. It is almost too much to hope that we can stand a little prosperity.

SLOWING DOWN

IT IS NOW REVEALED by traffic experts that the speed of automobile travel in the United States has heavily declined. The faster cars are made to go, the slower is actual speed, because of the congestion of American roads. In New York State, where people have cars capable of doing 100 miles an hour, the average speed is 18 miles an hour. You remember the funny, bumpy open cars of 1924? Well, they actually made better time than the sleek, streamlined monsters that New Yorkers drive today. In the heart of New York, indeed, you can only average seven miles an hour going up-town, and 11 miles going across town.

This is the reductio ad absurdum of the machine age and shows how ill-equipped man and his civilization are for it. It is rather gratifying, however, to know that in Victoria, who are vulgarly supposed to be rather slow, are actually moving at a greater tempo than New York, which is supposed to be the very core of modern speed and efficiency. We haven't yet achieved sufficient mechanical efficiency to be inefficient. But we will.

The Americans have revolutionized their highway system in the last 15 years, built superhighways everywhere, but they turn out to be quite inadequate and will have to be built over again to increase speed and cut down accidents. And all the splendid roads that we are getting in British Columbia now will be out of date in 20 or 30 years, and the Island Highway will have to be converted into a sunken railway, walled with concrete. Every 10 miles or so they will have places where you can park by a window or a periscope and look out at the view of the forest and the sea.

LINOTYPE OPERATOR FOR 50 YEARS

Martin Q. Good, seated at his linotype machine in the composing room of the New York Herald Tribune, now looks back a half century to June 15, 1888, when he started to work for the New York Tribune. He recalls regretfully the days of "individual newspapers run by men like Dana, Bennett and Whitelaw Reid."

Mr. Good, in ruddy good health at 72, has set copy continuously for five decades and says he still enjoys it.

Besides being dean of the linotype operators of the Herald Tribune, Mr. Good believes that he may be the oldest operator from the standpoint of service in the United States. The linotype machine, invented by Ottmar Mergenthaler in 1885, was first put into practical use by the Tribune in 1886. When Mr. Good first sat down at the keyboard of one of the Tribune's 15 type-setting machines two years later only two other American newspapers had linotypes in operation, the Providence Journal and the Louisville Courier.

GAMBLING CAN'T WIN

M. Rene Leon, the debonaire French ex-banker who became "The Man Who Made the Bank at Monte Carlo," may reveal the secrets of the famous casino.

During his 13 years as managing director of the company controlling the casino, in which he rocketed the revenues up to $12,000,000 a year, he learned many secrets about gambling and gamblers. He resigned, with much money and money confidences, three years ago, and some day he may write his memoirs. "Now, I would not dare," he said, "too many people are still alive." M. Leon has never gambled, has never backed a horse or bought a sweepstake ticket.

"The consistent gambler can never win," he declared, "it is the unalterable law of chance that he must lose."

"PRIVILEGE! PRIVILEGE!"

From Chicago Daily News
It did fully appear that, upon the 4th of this instant, January, 1942, many soldiers came with His Majesty to the House of Commons, armed with swords, pistols and other weapons. Divers of them pressed to the door of the House, thrust away the doorkeepers, some holding up their pistols ready cocked and saying, "I am a good marksman, I can hit right, I warrant you." And when several members of the House of Commons were coming into the House, some of the soldiers said: "A pox take the House of Commons, let them come and be hanged. What ado is here with the House of Commons?" Some did likewise violently assault, and by force disarm some of the attendants and servants of the members. Many of them, by wicked oaths and otherwise, expressed much discontent that some members whom they came to arrest, were not there, and others of them said, "When comes the word?"

His Majesty, Charles I, having placed himself in the Speaker's chair, demanded the persons of certain members to be delivered unto him. Inasmuch as which proceeding is a high breach of the rights and privileges of Parliament, and inconsistent with the liberties and freedom thereof, the House treated His Majesty with silence, and the Speaker refused him any knowledge of the absent members. Only when he exculpated that he had not intended to use arms, and turned like a punished dog to the door, did the Commons break silence with hissing of the cry, "Privilege! Privilege!"

Thus—and not for the first or the last time in English history—did the House of Commons reserve its right that the arresting or summoning of any member of Parliament, by any method whatsoever without a legal proceeding—especially by the army—and without the consent of the House, is against the liberty of the subject, and a breach of privilege of Parliament.

In the name of that "liberty" and "freedom" there ensued the Puritan Revolution; in reality no spontaneous rising of the people against the "tyrant" Charles, but stage-managed like all revolutions—including the French and the Russian—by a small group of politicians. Indeed, under Cromwell, what happened to Parliamentary privilege? Charles had blundered badly, but oppressed the House with nothing except an outburst of hauteur, whereas every parliamentary assembly which met under the Commonwealth was invaded by armed men, acting on Cromwell's orders, and ejected by force. "Come, come, I will put an end to your prating," he bellowed at the first Parliament. "You are no Parliament. Call them in!" Whereupon the soldiers invaded the House, and soon afterward Cromwell ruled England with divisional major-generals.

Today every parliamentary member holds these two disasters—Cavalier and Roundhead—deep in his heart; and likewise, for these two very reasons, England, since that time, has had no domestic standing army—not through pacifism or cowardice but through fear of the army backed by the Crown.

And that is why, only the other day Parliament won its initial victory when Chamberlain and the war minister sought to apply the penalties of the Official Secrets Act to Duncan Sandys, Conservative member. Unanimously the House privileges committee agreed that a military court was out of order in summoning Sandys to appear in uniform before it to disclose his source of information on the air defenses of London and the British Isles.

Even so battlemented a stronghold of privilege as the British Isles knows how to guard its historic parliamentary privileges.

Only Two Private Schools of Victoria Wrote; All Others Recommended

For the first time an entrance class pass list has been published without the names of any of the public school pupils of Greater Victoria.

Under the new Department of Education regulations all entrance class pupils eligible for high school were recommended.

Only the pupils of private schools throughout the province and private study pupils in some of the smaller centres wrote the examinations.

A total of 6,064 grade eight pupils from the public schools were promoted on recommendation, and of 788 candidates who wrote the entrance examination, 342 were successful.

In September 6,406 pupils will enter high schools for the first time to take the places of about the same number who will matriculate.

It will be noted that only two private schools appear in the list for Victoria.

B.C. POLICE WIN HONORS

The B.C. Police revolver team, consisting of Sub-Inspector C. Clark and Constables J. A. Young, W. G. Bailey and J. A. Henry, participated in the northwest revolver championships at Seattle over the week-end and successfully defended the A. W. Leonard Trophy for high Canadian team present.

Constable Jake Young again won the high Canadian (individual) award, the Ben Paris trophy. Other team members were medal winners in different matches.

Upon their return to the city yesterday, the team were pleasantly surprised to hear that word had been received from Montreal that the B.C. Police (tyro) team in the Chief Constable's Association match had won the tyro revolver championship among police departments of the Dominion. This five-man provincial police team will next meet the best five-man team selected from members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for the open revolver championship of Canada. The match will be shot during this month.

The tyro team consisted of Sub-Inspector C. Clark, Victoria; Constable F. Grimshaw, Victoria; Corporal W. G. Ellis, Burnaby; Sergeant J. W. Hooker, Cranbrook, and Corporal W. F. Conlan, Victoria. They scored 1,360 out of 1,500.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

(From the Times Files)

Passengers traveling on Beacon Hill and Outer Wharf cars during the last two days will have noticed that a break has been made in the lines at a point near the corner of Government and Fort Streets. In the early days of Victoria a ditch was run along under where the roadway stands and the presence of this served to weaken the track so effectively that it has been found necessary to repair the foundation.

At a representative meeting of Sidney residents last night five citizens were appointed a committee to appoint a volunteer fire brigade. They are: J. B. Kelly, F. A. Kelly, Captain Byers, George Cochrane and A. L. Wilson.

With the mercury trying to lift the lid off the thermometer today, Victoria found itself thronging the ice cream parlors and bathing beaches in search of cool. At 10.30 this morning it was 82 degrees in the shade, which is the highest record in Victoria since last July.

A mass meeting of Victoria unionists is to be held at the North Ward Park a week from tomorrow to demonstrate upon the unemployment question.

Telephone Is Today's Statue

Pleasing Form Rather Than Imitation of Life Purpose of Sculpture

Modern sculpture is finding one of its best expressions in the design of such everyday things as the telephone and fountain pens, W. P. Weston, A.R.C.A., said yesterday in fourth of a series of talks on art appreciation before the Victoria Summer School of Education.

Today the portrait statue has little place, he said. Figure sculpture's chief field was in architecture, blending with the lines of buildings.

Illustrating his talk with a series of lantern slides showing the development of sculpture from Egyptian to modern times, Mr. Weston stressed throughout the idea of suitability to the material.

"It doesn't seem to me that the purpose of a statue is to imitate a live person or a live animal. You know a stone figure is not living. Why trip to make it so? How on earth can a sculptor make beautiful lines out of a pair of trousers and a frock coat?" he asked.

Sculpture was one of the most subtle of the arts because the artist had to produce pleasing lines in three dimensions. Any attempt to portray every detail destroyed the flow of the lines and with them the beauty of the piece.

In this matter the now dead creed of cubism had done much to bring back the feeling of solid mass and simple plane which was a requisite of good sculpture.

Esquimalt Council Briefs

Esquimalt will not enter a float in the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce's parades celebrating the city's birthday next month. The municipal council decided last night it had no money available for the purpose.

The council accepted three offers for lots in the municipality: $200 from J. H. Price for one in a new subdivision on Old Esquimalt Road; $100 from W. E. Thompson for one on Lampson Street and $100 for one on Sturdee Street from A. Fraser.

Concert At Park By Young Players

Philharmonic Society to Appear Under Sponsorship of B.C. Electric

The Victoria Philharmonic Orchestra Society, under the leadership of Al Prescott, will give a concert in Beacon Hill Park, under the sponsorship of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock. The assisting artists will be Miss Winifred Applegarth, soprano, and George Crabbe, baritone.

This orchestra is composed almost entirely of young instrumentalists who have recently graduated from High School, who received instruction in orchestral playing while at High School and who are now anxious to continue their orchestral work.

Since leaving school they have voluntarily continued their orchestral practices and have reached a high standard of efficiency and artistry, but until now have had little or no opportunity to play in public as a unit.

Through the personal interest of A. T. Goward, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, such an opportunity has now been provided and the public of Victoria is invited to come and hear them tomorrow.

This concert, and possibly others in August, will be sponsored by the B.C. Electric Railway Company as a contribution towards the outdoor entertainment of the public at this season of the year and as an encouragement to young musicians in Victoria to follow up and perfect themselves in orchestral ensemble playing.

Ask Waiving Of "Tote" Penalty

Evasion of the penalty clause in the agreement calling for the operation of the Australian totalisator machine at the Willows from W. C. Moresby, K.C., received by the City Council yesterday.

Mr. Moresby, acting for Harry Maynard and H. L. Salmon, requested permission to install an approximate odds board on the infield in view of the fact the Department of Agriculture had last year ordered the machines taken out.

Mr. Moresby pointed out the city's agreement called for payment of a $70 a day penalty for every day the machines were not operating and that last year this amount had been paid when the machines were taken out during the last two days of racing here.

The whole question was referred to the finance committee to discuss with the racing interests and determine what agreement could be reached.

The council accepted three offers for lots in the municipality: $200 from J. H. Price for one in a new subdivision on Old Esquimalt Road; $100 from W. E. Thompson for one on Lampson Street and $100 for one on Sturdee Street from A. Fraser.

City Council Briefs

At the invitation of the committee in charge of the Seattle Potlatch of Progress, to be staged July 29, 30 and 31, the council agreed to have a representative attend on behalf of Mayor McGavin. The mayor said he would be unable to attend. He named Alderman James Adam to represent him.

The council accepted invitations to attend the Rainbow Sea Cadets' sports at Rodd Hill on July 23 and the Naval Veterans' Branch of the Canadian Legion smoking concert on August 2.

A request from the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce for directional signs to show tourists the way to Mount Tolmie was referred to the public works committee.

Permission was granted the 16th Canadian Scottish Association to erect a memorial cross in Pioneer Square to commemorate the participation of members of that regiment in the Great War. The memorial will be erected under the supervision of the parks committee and all costs will be borne by the association.

Installation of water and sewer services in a subdivision of Topaz Avenue, owned by A. J. Morley, was referred to the public works committee. Cost of the work was placed at $2,500 by G. M. Irwin, city engineer, and members of the council felt it might be accomplished with relief labor later in the year.

On recommendation of the city engineer the council approved replacing of certain sections of the city's garbage wharf. The new work will include replacing of piles, rebuilding of decking, replacement of fender piles and replacing of gutters and drain pipes.

Erection of a tent on Douglas Street, between Bay Street and Queen's Avenue, for the holding of evangelist meetings was approved.

Tenders for the wiring work in the city assessor's office and the printing of the voters' lists were referred to the finance committee.

Appointment of J. H. B. Watson and F. M. Walter to the permanent staff of the city comptroller's office was approved on recommendation of the finance committee.

ESQUIMALT TAX RECEIPTS GOOD

Half-yearly Statement Shows Increase in Percentage Collected

Tax collections in Esquimalt up to June 30 were 1 1/2 per cent ahead of last year's figure on the general and debt rate and more than 3 per cent ahead in the sewer rates and rentals bracket, it was shown in the half-yearly tax statement submitted to the municipal council at a meeting last night.

Sewer rate collections has already exceeded the estimate for the whole year by a few dollars.

The collection to June 30 on the general and debt rate was $60,811.38 on an estimated collection for the whole year of $65,562.91 and a levy of $77,132.84, leaving $4,751.53 to be taken in during the rest of the year for the collection to reach the estimated total.

The figures for arrears and delinquent taxes also showed good progress.

The half-yearly auditor's statement, also presented to the council at the meeting, showed a bank balance and cash in hand amounting to $53,865.20 out of receipts totaling $137,202.28.

The statement of the public works department, presented by P. J. McCulloch, foreman of works, listed expenditures of $5,502 on general work and $1,205 on sewer maintenance. The department's allotment for the whole year is between $11,000 and $12,000.

Restriction On Licenses Sought

City Council Wants Right to Refuse Business Permits

The right to refuse to issue trade licenses to outside firms seeking the establishment of businesses in Victoria will be sought from the Provincial Legislature by the City Council.

The council yesterday gave unanimous support to a motion by Alderman W. H. Davies which sought restriction on new business ventures.

In explaining the reason for the move, Alderman Davies said it was aimed particularly at outside firms who sent representatives to Victoria to do business and then sent the business out of town when it was received.

The dry-cleaning and tailoring businesses were mentioned as two instances in which this occurred, Mayor McGavin saying he understood restriction on this type of business would mean the employment of 25 more men in Victoria.

Alderman Alex Peden, while in favor of the move, questioned the right of the council to secure such powers. He did not believe any municipality could prevent the opening up of a new business as long as those in charge were within the limits of city by-laws.

City Receipts Show Increase

Gains in Tax Collections and Outside Revenue Sources Are Reported

City revenue, from sources other than taxation, was $11,749.54 ahead of last year to the end of June, according to a statement presented to the City Council yesterday by Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, chairman of the finance committee.

From current taxes an increase of $100,700 was shown. Revenue from tax arrears showed a decrease.

The total revenue collected from sources outside the tax rolls was $313,648.37, as compared with $301,898.83 received during the first six months of last year. The estimated revenue from these sources for the whole of this year is $629,224.

Of the $1,613,658.83 tax levy this year taxpayers have already put $671,492.18 into city coffers in prepaid taxes. This showed a substantial gain over the $570,792.41 received last year. To date there has been 41.6 per cent of the levy collected, while last year the percentage was 33.9.

On the tax arrears account, out of an estimated total revenue for the year of $319,300 receipts to date aggregate $107,832, as against $115,913 last year.

Revenue from reverted property sales was placed at $22,208 while collections from sales and rentals were $30,280.

Astronomical Summer Course

Series of Lectures Will Begin Next Week at Victoria College

The annual summer course conducted by the Royal Astronomical Society in Victoria begins its series of lectures next week on Monday, July 25. This summer course was inaugurated a few years ago as an experiment in educational astronomy, and has proved so popular that it is now an established activity of the society.

The purpose of the course is to foster an acquaintance with astronomy, especially among those with little or no familiarity with the subject. Each meeting begins with a short and non-technical talk upon some astronomical body or subject, and then the meeting proceeds out-of-doors to learn constellations and to recognize stars and planets from actual experience.

Several excellent telescopes are available providing magnified views of the planets, double stars, star-clusters and the moon.

The first meeting devotes its lecture period to the constellations, their forms and mythology and methods whereby one may learn to recognize them in the sky. Following this are lectures upon the sun, planets, star-clusters, along with two more practical evenings. At one of these a member of the society will tell, from first-hand experience, how any amateur may make his own telescope. An example of such an instrument, built in the society's telescope-making section, will be demonstrated. The other highlight will take the form of a trip to the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory to inspect the equipment there and view the heavens through the great reflector. By special arrangement this evening is devoted to the society and offers a unique opportunity to use the facilities of the institution.

The meetings are held in the grounds and buildings of Victoria College. The beautiful setting and clear view make this an ideal spot for those who wish, during the summer, to "learn their way about" in the heavens.

Women's Rights Start Recalled

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Just 90 years ago today, a small band of women gathered in this village to begin a fight for the rights of women, which culminated in the opening to women of vast new fields of endeavor.

And were Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton alive today, she probably would smile with satisfaction at the progress women have made in the present-day world since she called to order that memorable meeting, the first women's rights convention ever held, on July 19, 1848.

The program adopted by the women attending the convention, held in the old Wesleyan Methodist Episcopal Church, called for complete equality for women in every field.

Recent guests staying at the Shawngnan Beach Hotel included: Rev. and Mrs. Thos. Keyworth, Sidney, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kohl, Mr. A. B. Hammond, Mr. C. N. Beard, Victoria; Dr. and Mrs. John P. Valuable Dolls As Gifts for Princesses

Thousands of Pounds For France's Gift to King's Daughters

PARIS—Thousands of pounds have been spent by the most famous-fashion houses in Paris on France's present to the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

All the famous dressmakers, hat makers, glove makers and jewelers have been working their staffs overtime to complete the luxury gifts—two life-size dolls christened Marianne and France.

Parisians are disappointed at not being able to cheer the Princesses as well as the King and Queen when they arrive today.

Marianne, blonde, and the elder, France, the brunette, are talked about in the capital as if they were really alive.

And so many applications have been received from French school children eager to take the gifts to Buckingham Palace that the judges have been racing through school reports and examination papers to select the little ambassadors.

REAL JEWELS
In the dolls' outfits will be jewel boxes encrusted with real gems, real fur capes and exquisite perfumes.

Court dressmakers, known to every-debutante the world over, have been making dresses; shoe-makers have finished evening sandals, day shoes and walking shoes and bedroom slippers.

Real rubies, emeralds and diamonds were supplied by Cartiers to stud the jewel box containing pink ivory brush sets.

A second box contains a for-toiletshe dressing table outfit, while one of the most famous trunk makers in the capital has constructed miniature suitcases and valises of calfskin lined with silk.

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Twelve-year-old Princess Elizabeth, who did not accompany her parents on their visit to France today, will be presented by the City of Paris with a carefully chosen library of French books, considered ideal reading for a growing girl.

It will be the first time Paris has ever bestowed such a gift on a royal child. The 20 books will furnish a permanent source library on ancient and modern French culture.

Royal Garden Party Held Yesterday

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Completely recovered from the attack of gastric influenza, which confined him to bed last week, the King yesterday attended a garden party in Buckingham Palace grounds on the eve of his departure with Queen Elizabeth for Paris today.

It was announced last night that Lord Dawson of Penn, the royal physician-in-ordinary, will not accompany the King on his visit to France. The sovereign's health, it was stated, is satisfactory and does not require the presence of his physician.

A light rain marred the beginning of the royal garden party, attended by 10,000 guests. The King did not make his appearance until late in the afternoon after the weather had cleared.

As the Queen was emerging from the palace, accompanied by Queen Mary and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret, the downpour began. It stopped a little later, however, and the King joined the Queen just before tea-time.

Late in the day, the sovereigns learned of the death of Queen Marie of Rumania, granddaughter of Queen Victoria and thus related to the Royal family. The Lord Chamberlain, as is customary, will probably announce in a day or two in what manner the court will mourn the Rumanian Dowager Queen.

SEWS AT 103
ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP)—Mrs. Catherine MacIsaac, who was 103 years old today, said she was "glad to have lived so long," and was in no hurry to move on.

Almost unbelievably active, she still knits and sews.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McVie, 922 Lyall Street, entertained about 150 guests at St. Paul's Church house last night in honor of the twenty-first birthday of their son, Mr. James Albert McVie.

The big birthday cake with its inscription, "1917-1938," and its appropriate number of lighted candles, was duly cut by the guest of honor.

Mr. Fred Sparks, an old friend of the family, proposed the toast of "Many happy returns," recalling "Jimmie's" musical gifts and his popularity as a singer, and Miss Eva Aldridge, on behalf of his many friends, presented him with a handsome traveling case.

Queen Chooses White Gowns For Paris

Recent Bereavement Governs Color in All-British Wardrobe

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Queen Elizabeth arrived in France today with a wardrobe fashioned by the distinguished British dress designer, Norman Hartnell, to meet all the exigencies of a royal visit.

The queen's wardrobe, previously assembled in many colors, has been done chiefly in white, following her recent bereavement.

The royal garments combine modern line with details reminiscent of costumes worn on state visits by former queens of England, Hartnell having been particularly inspired by a pale blue gown, which Queen Victoria took to France in 1855, and which is preserved in the British Museum.

On her first day in Paris today the Queen appeared in a tailored ensemble trimmed with white fox and worn with a hat of the same color, ornamented by a large white bird.

At the Versailles luncheon following a military review, Queen Elizabeth will wear flowing white organdy with a wide, beribboned picture hat.

For the state banquet at the Elysee Palace, residence of the President of France, the Queen will be attired in white satin glittering with flower-shaped pearls and paillettes.

On the evening of the gala opera performance, most brilliant of all the spectacles offered the visiting rules, the Queen will take her place in the presidential loge gowning in a shimmering white satin period dress of the 1860's, thickly embroidered with silver.

Chapter's Fete At Hatley Park

Through the kindness of Mr. J. Graham, the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., will hold their annual garden party at Hatley Park, the beautiful estate of the late Mrs. Duns-muir, on Wednesday, July 27.

Miss Norah Wilson, St. Charles Street, who has been visiting in Calgary with Major and Mrs. Earl Hunter, has returned home.

Baroness C. J. de Vos Van Steenwyk of Vancouver, who has been spending a few days in Victoria with friends, has returned to her home on the mainland.

Mrs. E. F. Dawson and Miss Jane Caldwell were joint hostesses at the former's home, 1936 Cochrane Street, last night at a miscellaneous, shower in compliment to Miss Lois Bell, who is to be married shortly to Mr. Jack Girardau. The many gifts were placed beneath a white wedding bell, and the rooms were effectively decorated with flowers. The guests included Mrs. S. C. Bell, Mrs. A. E. Girardau, Mrs. P. Woolley, Mrs. Ashby, Mrs. F. Hornsby, Mrs. H. Tyler, Mrs. C. W. Dawson, Mrs. H. M. Bell, Mrs. W. Hamilton, Mrs. H. J. Bell, Mrs. Babcock and the Misses Frances, Eunice and Evelyn Bell, Robina Bone and Agnes Bone.

Mrs. Alex Main, who left on Saturday afternoon to join Mr. Main in their new home at Dawson, Yukon Territory, was the guest of honor when the "Knit-Wits" Club met recently at the home of Mrs. "Bud" Page. The evening was spent, as usual, in knitting, fancy work and singing songs. After refreshments had been served, Mrs. Page presented her with a pair of beautiful elk hide moccasins as a farewell gift on behalf of the "Knit-Wits." Mrs. Main thanked the club. Members of the club are: Mesdames Alex Main, Harry King, Bud Page, and the Misses Lillian Young, Patricia Van Norman, Mary Hewitt, Eileen and Margaret Carr, Lillian Stokes, Eleanor Peden, Gay Stewart, Kay and "Billie" Hall, Irene and Edina Wallace, and Bona and Lois Macmurchie.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Baird were entertained at a post-nuptial reception and shower given by Miss Eleanor Carr at the home of Mrs. Baird's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burgess, Wilkinson Road. The bride, formerly Miss Jean Burgess, was presented with a corsage of pink carnations by her aunt, Mrs. R. McDowell, and with a beautiful sheaf of salmon-pink gladioli by Mr. and Mrs. G. Taylor. The guests of honor were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, and an enthusiastic toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. R. McDowell. Those assisting in serving refreshments, included Mrs. R. McDowell, Mrs. G. Taylor, Mrs. Berry, and the Misses E. Carr, Muriel, Ruth and Nora White, Kathleen and Phyllis Taylor. The young couple have left for Port Renfrew, where they will make their home.

STEWART-BLYTH

Standard baskets of gladioli, clarkia and roses were arranged at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Blyth, 554 Niagara Street, as a setting for the wedding of their only daughter, Miss Mary Young Blyth, to Mr. John Allan Stewart, which took place last night at 8. The bridegroom, who recently returned from Hankow, where he had been on the staff of the China Navigation Company for several years, is the younger son of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. Stewart, Victoria, and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wallace and Miss Allan, 44 Lewis Street.

Rev. John E. Bell conducted the marriage service in the presence of about 50 guests. The pretty bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace frock, and a small white hat beneath a shoulder-length veil. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, white sweet peas and swansonias. Miss Mary Loudoun was her cousin's bridesmaid, in a pretty frock of pink net over taffeta, and a pink Juliet cap trimmed with a bandeau of pale pink sweet peas, which also composed her bouquet. Mr. Bryce Stewart was his brother's best man.

Mrs. Blyth, wearing a navy blue sheer gown, was assisted in receiving the guests by Miss Allan, who wore a brown printed silk frock, their corsage bouquets being of carnations and sweet peas. Vases of sweet peas, carnations and gypsophylla adorned the supper table, which was centred with the bride's cake.

After a honeymoon on the island, for which the bride left in a grey suit, with a rosewood hat and a fox fur, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will return to Victoria to make their home for the present.

Mrs. James Scott, Kildonan, B.C.; Mrs. W. Hastie, Edinburgh, Scotland; and Mrs. J. Smith and Miss Lina Smith, Vancouver, were guests at the wedding.

HEALTH PLAN OPPOSED IN U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential committee yesterday recommended a vast United States public health program to cost $850,000,000 annually; only to have the head of the American Medical Association brand it, by plain implication, as unworkable.

The program, laid before the National Health Conference by a committee of medical care which President Roosevelt appointed, was the first government-sponsored proposal for providing medical, hospital and dental care, as well as health insurance and illness compensation.

In reply, Dr. Irwin Abell of Louisville, Ky., the medical association's president, told the 175 doctors, government officials and others attending the health conference:

"Those people who think they can devise a centrally controlled medical service plan which can be fitted to the varying conditions of the states, counties and cities of this country are discussing theories which no practical health administrator could possibly approve."

Because medical needs varied widely in different localities, he urged these needs be studied.

FULL RESULTS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Approximately two of every three doctors in the United States oppose reorganization of medical practice along lines of socialized medicine, it was reported yesterday in results of a physicians' referendum conducted by Modern Medicine, a medical journal published here.

However, of the 16,711 doctors who voted in the poll, 55 per cent answered "yes" on the question "Do you think the cost of providing adequate medical care for the medically indigent and the low income group (families with incomes below $1,500 a year) should be met with public funds?"

ESSLER-BOOKOUT

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening at Port Alberni, when Marjorie Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bookout of Port Alberni, was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Essler of Victoria.

Mrs. H. Graff, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor, while Mr. L. Essler supported his brother as best man. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Essler left for a short honeymoon and will make their home at Victoria.

CRUTHERS-SMITH

The wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at the United Church of Rose Frances, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith of Port Alberni, and Mr. Wesley Victor Cruthers, youngest son of Mrs. M. J. McMillan of Barkerville. Rev. J. Cameron officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of poudre blue satin, with lace-trimmed veil suspended from a Juliet cap and coronet of small pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations. Mrs. Irene Kask, as matron of honor, was gowned in dusky pink satin, covered with spider-web net. Her picture hat was in blue tones with shoulder-length veil, and she carried lilies of the valley. Mr. E. Cruthers supported the bridegroom as best man.

At the reception that followed the ceremony, at the residence of the bridegroom's brother, the guests were received by the mother of the bride wearing royal blue gabardine, and Mrs. E. Cruthers attired in navy floral crepe. Later when Mr. and Mrs. Cruthers left for their wedding trip through the States, the bride donned a tailored suit in rust color with accessories in brown. On their return they will reside at Port Alberni.

Women Farmers On Increase In England

Demand for Rural Workers Far Exceeds The Supply

 By MOLLIE MCGEE
 Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON, Eng. (CP)—Feeding the cows and raking the hay is becoming women's work in England. Women farmers are on the increase, according to officials of the Royal Agricultural Society.

Usual modern method is for two women in partnership to run the farm. They are not new to the job, however. Many receive their training on large estates and work their apprenticeship in exchange for food and lodging. Others attend agricultural colleges.

Country jobs that have particular feminine appeal are dairy work, butter-making, cheese-making, stock work and milking. Women gardeners are wanted for private gardens and for the gardens of large institutions. To be head gardener at a girls' school or women's college is considered quite a woman's job and many trained women are employed to assist in horticultural nursery work.

According to the Women's Farm and Garden Association, the demand for experienced women in various branches of outdoor work far exceeds the supply.

WOULD TRY HOUSE WORK.

Perhaps an encouragement to women to stay in the kitchen and not wander outdoors, the Dowager Marchioness of Reading told of her repressed desire to be a housemaid. She was speaking at a meeting of the Society for Oversea Settlement of British women.

She is the only woman on the board of this society with 10 men. In her short address, she said definitely that if she were young again she would most certainly emigrate to one of the Dominions—and, what is more, she would not mind what kind of job she had to take to begin with. "I wouldn't try to be a cook, because I can't cook," she said, "but I would make an excellent housemaid."

Miss Edith Thompson, chairman of the executive committee, told of a constant demand for qualified teachers, hospital nurses, governesses and children's nurses in both Australia and South Africa, where the settlement scheme under the guardianship of this association is well under way. A limited number of secretaries, hotel receptionists, hairdressers and dressmakers are promised jobs on arrival.

MARRIED WANT CHANCE.

With emigration offering such inducements, a deputation representing 20 women's organizations called at the London County Council headquarters and asked that the marriage bar for women employees be abolished. The reason given for this request was that depriving a woman of her job merely because she marries is anti-social and has a tendency toward later marriages and smaller families.

One of the claims made was that it is in the interests of the community that women should be allowed to do work for which they are trained, regardless of whether they are married or not.

The idea behind the deputation was that the L.C.C. should set an example in this way to the government. Recently they made a ruling allowing married nurses to retain their positions owing to the shortage of hospital staff.

BLANDY AGAIN HEADS CHOIR

Arion Club Returns All Officers By Acclamation at Open Air Meeting

R. F. Blandy was last night re-elected to the presidency of the Arion Club male choir now in its 48th year and oldest musical organization in Victoria.

The entire executive of the club was returned by acclamation. The other officers are: Vice-president, W. Orchard; secretary, J. Walton; financial secretary, H. J. Crane; treasurer, W. Lyall; librarians, A. Bennett and J. O'Connor; general committee, M. A. Cree, W. J. Whittemore and Herbert Kent, and music committee, Charles Conyers and George Guy.

Hundreds of colored lights were strung among the trees in the gardens of "Yavlek," Thistle Street, Cedar Hill, the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelway, where the annual meeting was held in the open air.

The evening was pleasantly informal with an impromptu singing, following the business meeting. The guests were able to explore the two-acre grounds of the home and inspect the fishponds, fountains, rockeries and lawns.

The club had been greatly rejuvenated and revitalized as a result of its trip to Eugene, Oregon, at the end of May. Mr. Blandy said in his presidential report. A number of new members had been accepted and other applications were being considered.

The membership at present totaled 56 active and eight honorary, he said.

The finances of the club were shown to be in sound condition in the report of the treasurer. It was decided the club would give an open air concert during Navy Week next month. The date and the beneficiary will be announced later. The club gives concerts regularly each summer in aid of charity.

Guests at the meeting included Benedict Bantley, a member of the club in its early days who is now visiting Victoria from the south, and R. H. Reeves, who now is a teacher in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

An impromptu entertainment given during the evening included a reading by Frank J. Schi.

Congress officials said the figures were not complete. They said the total probably would reach 750,000.

"And they list her: HOUSEWIFE"

On census reports, or tax return, she may be listed only "housewife," while her husband bears the more definite title of "lawyer," or "doctor," or "storekeeper."

But housewife hardly does this wife and mother justice. She is the modern Jill-of-all-trades. Her job includes being dietician, interior decorator, costume designer, gardener, chauffeur—not to mention educator and health authority.

How does she get away with it? She is informed! Just as her husband depends upon business news in this paper, she finds in the advertising pages the latest facts and price quotations on all the materials needed for her various jobs.

Food for the family? Butcher and grocer answer on these pages. . . . Curtains, spring dresses for mother and daughter, slip covers? Department store and specialty shop are ready. She has preferences about fuels and milk, dental creams and even motor oil—all determined by her persistent, intelligent reading of advertisements.

That's why, when she is termed officially "housewife," she can run six jobs instead of one, and have time left over for amusement and relaxation. (The advertisements help her here, too.)

Classy Field For Gala Here

Sports Mirror

If they stick at the game for another two or three seasons of intensive work, the young track and field performers now working out under Archie McKinnon should develop into one of the finest Victoria teams the 1936 Olympic coach has ever handled.

McKinnon, through whose hands have passed virtually all the Victoria champions in that sport for the last decade and a half, is enthusiastic about his youngsters.

With the senior men, Bill Dale, Joe Addison and Owen Bentley, assisting him, the local coach has watched the boys come along in great shape so far this season.

He looks to Bill Clark and Arnold Masters, sprinters of 14 and 16, respectively, to cut their niche in western Canada ranks at least in the next couple of years. Nell Craig, another 14-year-old, shows promise of making a good middle-distance man, while Billy Brown, still in his early teens, bids fair to make a smart broad jumper and quarter-miler. Rolfe Dodds has the makings of a hurdler and sprinter and Norm Willis shows promise at high and broad jumps. Herb Fulthorpe, Ted Witter, Ernest McCoy and George Lovitt are all likely sprinters.

When the time comes for Dale, Addison and his other seniors to lay aside their spikes, McKinnon should have a very fair group to tread the cinders in their places.

Addison, incidentally, is running particularly well after his comparative layoff last year. Dale is working satisfactorily, taking it a little easy to avoid staleness and overstrain from a season which started early in the year at Washington State.

Bruce Humber, Victoria's University of Washington star of 1936, is on the sidelines indefinitely. Bruce is still limping from the effects of a broken leg, received when a horse kicked him.

None of the old guard will be neglected during meets this season, but it looks as if the call will be for youth, to give it as much experience as possible, when McKinnon makes up his teams.

Next on the program for the spiked-shoe boys are the Highland games here on July 30, with similar sports in Vancouver on August 6. One or two of the stars may go to Trail for a special meet later in August and the major events of the year will probably draw to a close with the Nanaimo provincial championships. The runners will also go after their laurels open to them during Navy Week.

Some of the highlights of Sunday's angling derby. Aboard Cap. "Pop" Peard's cruiser Paul saw James Muir from Bon-Bay win a great fight with a 20 1/2-pounder. He said it was worth the trip from India to angle with Brentwood salmon.

A Times reporter walked proudly up to the weighing-in platform with a handsome 7-pound spring salmon. The weigher asked him from what Indian he had bought it. The most-fished spots on Saanich Inlet on Sunday were Deep Hole and Stone House. Plenty of boats milled about these two popular big-fish-producing areas. A few got their lines tangled. General opinion favors a set starting time since it gives every angler an equal chance. There wasn't a prouder lad on the island than Bobby Redgrave when he stepped forward to accept the first prize in the derby for catching a 26 1/2-pound salmon. There was a noticeable increase in the number of women anglers competing this year. One woman, Mrs. Len Holyoak, caught the third biggest fish of the day, a 24 1/2-pounder. T. Barnard, Nanaimo, weighed in smallest fish. It weighed two pounds.

Tony Galento, enraged at disparaging remarks Max Baer is said to have made about his top ranking by the National Boxing Association, has offered to fight the former champion anywhere, any time, on a winner-take-all basis.

"Baer calls my beer drinking a pose," snorts Galento.

"Well, at least I've never posed on one knee like Baer did when he quit to Joe Louis."

Victoria Aces to Meet Seattle P.N.A. Champs on Friday

Victoria will send its best aquatic material against leading Seattle mermaids and mermen on Friday night in what promises to be a gala of considerable proportions at the Crystal Garden.

Headlined by P.N.A. champions from the Sound city, as well as Vancouver's two British Empire Games springboard aces, Lynda Adams and George Athans, the out-of-town talent will give Victoria's best all it can handle in a program of 26 events.

Hazel Smith, sleek speedster who outstroked former Empire champion Phyllis Dewar in the last big gala-sprint event here, is a standout bet for the capital city in the women's 50 yard freestyle and should give a good account of herself in the 100. Lennie Stark, facing Gene Caddy, Seattle's P.N.A. champion, and reputed Canadian record holder, has also a good chance of picking up points for the Victorians, while Rae Saunders, local backstroke performer, should do well in the women's dorsal sprint.

Don Davidson is rated a place in the money in the men's backstroke and Bob Lawrence should be good enough to pick off junior laurels and may make good in the senior 400 freestyle.

Ivor Fuller will seek the 50-yard sprint honors and some classy relay material from the local Y should give invading performers plenty to worry about in the team events.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

According to the program announced today, men's senior events will include 400 and 50 yards freestyle sprints, 100 backstroke, 200 breaststroke, 150 medley relay and 200 straight relay as well as the diving.

Senior women will seek 100 and 50 yards freestyle sprint honors, 100 yards backstroke, 100 yards breaststroke, 150 medley relay and 200 yards relay laurels.

Four contests are arranged for junior boys and a like number for junior girls. They include 100 yards freestyle, 50 yards backstroke, 50 yards breaststroke and 200 yards relay races.

For juveniles, 50 yards freestyle and 50 yards backstroke sprints have been billed for both boys and girls.

The diving exhibitions should be particularly attractive. Athans has shown exceptionally good form in recent meets and, in his last contest with Chuck Reddell, Seattle representative, took first honors. Both should be in first-class shape for the meet as should Lynda Adams, the petite favorite from Vancouver.

SEATTLE ENTRIES

Seattle entries for the gala include: Fred Carlson, P.N.A. backstroke champion, and Canadian recordholder of the 100-yd. backstroke; Gene Caddy, P.N.A. breaststroke titleholder and Canadian recordholder; Mack Bockman, P.N.A. 220-yard champion, Western Canadian mile champion, Washington State mile champion, member of the American record relay team; George Personette, P.N.W. 50-yard free style champion, national inter-collegiate champion, member of the P.N.A. championship relay squad; Chuck Reddell, P.N.A. diving winner for three years, former Canadian titleholder; P.N. international titleholder, and Washington State outdoor holder; Francis Beavan, P.N.W. free style novice champion; Marie Jarnig, 50-yard free style Washington State titleholder; Louise Slayton, Hawaiian Islands junior monarch and Lucille Sielbach, ranking swimmer.

Harris Named Parade Marshal

Junior Chamber to Enter Girls' Drill Team in August Celebration.

Ernest Harris, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, was elected chief marshal of the August parades, and Don McIntosh and Ed Glover were named deputy marshals, at a meeting of the celebrations committee of the Junior Chamber held last evening.

It was reported that Shawna Lake had submitted the first outside entry in the float division. Local merchants are supporting the committee well in obtaining parade entries.

Work on the two queen carriages will commence this week, Jack Hartree told the meeting.

Norman Foster, secretary of the Junior Chamber, is in charge of the drill team which will participate in the August parades under the banner of the Junior Chamber. The team will be comprised of 30 girls.

Mr. Foster reported that regular practices were being held three times a week in preparation for the team's public appearance. Young ladies, approximately 5 feet 4 inches in height, who desire to join the team, are asked to communicate with Mr. Foster at the Chamber of Commerce.

Tom Sturgess gave a brief account of the progress of the "Miss Victoria" contest. Indications pointed to a highly-successful contest, he said.

It was reported that the Bothell High School Drill Band from Seattle, which performed here Saturday and Sunday, was welcomed by Mrs. B. P. Butchart at her home at Benvenuto on Sunday.

GASMEN WIN FROM EAGLES

Big Third-Inning Attack Puts Baseball Game in Cooler For Pitzer and Nex

Punching out a flock of base knocks in a big third-inning attack and making them good for 11 runs, Pitzer and Nex baseballers last night came through with a 15 to 5 triumph over a weakened Eagles squad in a Rithet Cup fixture at the Athletic Park.

Eagles' latest hurling find, Gordon Donaldson, formerly of Nelson, started on the mound for the birdmen but was yanked in the third after the gashouse gang had wrought heavy damage. Donaldson, however, was not the only one to blame. He got poor support from his clubmates, who booed badly and made it easy for the Pitzer and Nex boys to score runs.

Stan Davies came in to take over and stayed for the rest of the game. He was nicked for a quartette of singles.

Harry Harding did the heavy work for the winners. He allowed 10 singles, but kept them well scattered.

Home run king for the evening was Rabey, gasmen's left fielder, who put the ball over the fence in the sixth.

Score—Eagles 0130010—5 Pitzer and Nex 2011002X—15 Batteries—Donaldson, Davies and Cosier; Harding and Kinnear. Umpires, Redgrave and Renfree.

Second-place Pitzer and Nex nine and Victoria Ball Club, present leaders, will hook up in a Rithet Cup fixture tomorrow night at 6:15 at the Athletic Park. A win for the gas men will create a two-way tie for the leadership berth.

LAKE-HENDERSON IS WINNING TEAM

The team of Jack Lake and Ken Henderson won the Cecil Frampton "Tin Hat" in the Victoria Motorcycle Club's annual all-night endurance run to Port Alberni and back Saturday night. Without the aid of watches or speedometers, this pair was just out four minutes on a set schedule. In second place was the team of D. Yates and J. Buckham, who were out six minutes. C. Davies and F. Baylis, last year's winners, were third; Vic Stevens and N. Cameron, fourth, and D. Eve and Bob Shanks, fifth.

The riders, without instruments to judge their speed attempted to stick to a 33-mile an-hour schedule to Nanaimo and a 30-mile-an-hour from there to Port Alberni. The schedule was the same coming back.

B.C. Electric Railway and Langford team. The visitors halved the ladies, men's, and mixed doubles matches to make the game a draw of 8 to 8.

Vancouver Team Walks Over Calgary Callies For Second Straight Triumph

VANCOUVER (CP)—North Shore United headed into the thick of the Dominion soccer fight today and awaited only marginally of their next opponent in the hunt for the trophy British Columbia has held since 1936.

United's starry crew won the far-west title last night as they whittled Calgary Callies, Alberta representatives, 11 to 1 in the second game of a best-of-three series. They won the initial contest Saturday 9 to 2.

With the passport to further participation tucked away, the Uniteds held high hopes of following in the footsteps of Westminster Royals, who took the crown in 1936 and Vancouver's Johnston Storage, who won it last year.

Jimmy Spencer scored six goals from his inside left-position last night as Uniteds turned on the power against Callies. Reg Liptrott scored three times and Trevor Harvey, centre-half, completed United's scoring.

Callies were saved from a shut-out when Andy Law converted a cross from Tim West on the left wing late in the second half.

Jimmy Spencer opened scoring when the game was three minutes old and scored again minutes later. Then Liptrott banged in a pass from Basil Robinson on the inside right and repeated to make it 4 to 0.

Harvey made it 5 to 0. Liptrott lobbed another in for his third goal. Spencer scored again at the 25-minute mark and increased North Shore's lead a few minutes later with an angle drive.

"Spencer opened second-half scoring with another goal practically from the kickoff. Theft scoring ceased until the 35-minute mark, when Callies scored their lone tally. Law's drive easily beat Jack Rabbitt in the North Shore goal.

Harvey came back to smash a hard drive in for North Shore and Spencer completed the rout with seconds remaining by scoring his sixth goal.

Line-ups follow: Calgary Callies—Adam, Stuppard, Ogilvie, Wilson, Smith, Coupland; Brown, Moorehouse, McKay, Matthews, West. Sub: Law.

The Gun Dog Club has decided to hold a second trial in October on pheasants. Both trials will be held under C.K.C. rules. Further information may be secured from B. Topp-Turner, 649 Admirals Rd.

Northwestern Club softballers advanced to meet the top berth Hollywood Club in the sudden-death C section final last night, when they took the measure of the Times squad, 7 to 4, in a one-game playoff at Savory Park. The two finalists will meet Wednesday at Victoria West Park.

Victoria Longshoremen and Burns Shamrocks battled 10 innings to a 7 to 7 draw last evening in an A section dual at Victoria West Park. A homer by Bill Levy, Burns' outfielder, in the 10th, held the stevedores from victory.

Over at Beacon Hill Park, Manager Ed Whyte's Young Liberals advanced into the B section playoff with a 10 to 3 victory over Emco. The winners opened with a four-run attack and for the remainder of the evening were never in danger of defeat.

No matter what may happen to those pennant-hungry New York baseball clubs within the next week or so, no one can say they haven't given or received fair warning.

The Yankees, leading the American League by a game and a half as they go into a "crucial" four-game series with Cleveland's second-place Indians, sounded the alarm by winning 17 of their last 20 games and tying another. The Giants, dropped into second place by Pittsburgh Pirates, have heard a similar warning from Chicago Cubs. They have to tackle Chicago and its newly-recovered Dizzy Dean late this week after what they hope will be a pleasant interlude at St. Louis.

The Cubs, right now, look like a team to watch in the National League. They have won seven straight from Philadelphia and Boston to move back into third place. The return of Dean undoubtedly will be an inspiration to the team, and they appear overdue for their annual big winning streak.

Chicago has a long way to go, however, before it can overtake those persistent Pirates. The Buccos made their margin, previously visible only in the percentage column, a half game yesterday by slugging out a 7 to 4 victory in two big innings.

RIZZO'S HOMER STARTS TROUBLE

Johnny Rizzo's homer with two aboard started the trouble in the sixth. Then after Harry Gumbert had been lifted for a pinch hitter, the Pirates fell on Dick Coffman for five hits and four more runs in the seventh. At that it took some smart relief pitching by Bill Swift to hold the lead as the Giants knocked Cy Blanton out in the three-run eighth.

The Cubs, meantime, pulled out a 7 to 6 decision over Boston Bees in the ninth inning after blowing a 6 to 3 lead in the same frame. Gabby Hartnett, the reliable, singled in the winning run after Tex Carleton had lost his stuff in the ninth, loaded the sacks with two singles and a pass and then served up a nice one which Cuccinello belted for a three-run double.

St. Louis Cardinals knocked off the Phillies 5 to 3 in the day's only other game as Brooklyn Dodgers, with four straight victories, were checked by rain at Cincinnati. The American League had an open date.

COAST LEAGUE

The Coast League teams are playing a split series this week. Today the Oaks move into Seattle for three games; Los Angeles, which took the lead away from the Sacramento Sporns last week, invades Portland; San Francisco plays host to Sacramento and the Hollywood Stars entertain San Diego. Starting Friday in a four-game series, the Oaks go to Portland, Los Angeles to Seattle, Sacramento to Hollywood, and San Diego to San Francisco.

Seven Teams To Campaign In Golf Play

Many Provincial Champions Are Included in Line-ups For Next Week

TORONTO (CP)—A mixture of veterans and newcomers will fire the opening shots when Canada's annual big week of amateur golf gets underway with the Willingdon Cup team competitions at the London Hunt Club next week.

Entry of seven four-men combinations was formally recorded today by Secretary B. L. Anderson of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, and the team line-ups include a flock of champions, new champions and also rans in major and minor tournaments.

The provincial teams will fight it out over 36 holes of medal play for the trophy donated by Earl Willingdon and first played for 11 years ago.

Quebec, winner in 1937 at Ottawa, has actually nominated five players, three of them members of last year's championship combination. They are: Gordon B. Taylor of Montreal, Phil Farley, Montreal, and Frank Corrigan, Ottawa. Named with them are Hack Archer of Marlborough and Bill Taylor of Summerlea. The Quebec association may not make its final selection until the eve of the tournament.

Gordon Taylor won the Dominion title in 1932 at Toronto. Farley, 1937 Quebec champion, was runnerup to Sandy Somerville at Ottawa last year when the Londoner captured his sixth Dominion amateur title by a 2 to 1 margin. Corrigan is the 1938 Quebec provincial titleholder.

ONTARIO STRONG

Against this starry combination, six other provincial associations will trot out their best. Ontario, five times holder of the title against Quebec's three, will be led again by Sandy Somerville, this year playing over his home course.

With Sandy will be two members of last year's team, Gordon Taylor Jr., of Toronto, Summit, runnerup to Somerville in the 1937 Dominion tournament at Hamilton, and Jim Beech of Toronto York Downs, the new 1938 Ontario amateur titleholder. Rounding out the team is Ray Gettiffe of London Hunt, who plays for Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League in winter. He is a newcomer to the competition.

Another hockey star will lead the combined New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island team. He is Pete Kelly, who last winter did his puck chasing with Detroit and Pittsburgh. Three newcomers will travel with the red-headed Pete to London. They are Reid C. M. Storey, Robert J. Likely and R. G. McInerney.

Knocking at the championship door and ready to blast the east out of the picture comes a quartette of western teams. Three times the west has swept through to the title, and each time it was British Columbia that turned the trick.

B.C. SQUAD

The Pacific Coast entry last won the title in 1936 at Winnipeg. The British Columbians in 1937 finished third, 10 strokes behind Ontario and 11 behind the winning Quebec team. Two members of last year's squad will again go into action. They are Jimmy Todd of Victoria and Ken Black of Vancouver.

At Ottawa Todd southpawed his way into the semi-finals of the Canadian Amateur and was eliminated after a great fight against Somerville. Black is a veteran member of the cost teams. Named with this pair are Don Gowan and Frank Wiley of Vancouver, who at one time or another have tasted Willingdon competition.

The Story of Rubber

2—MORE ABOUT "WILD RUBBER"

As we said yesterday, Brazil became the centre of the world's rubber supply. It kept the lead until a short time before the World War.

Smoking Para rubber. Notice rubber balls in foreground.

Brazil's output often is called "wild rubber," for it comes mainly from wild trees in forests of the Amazon. How many of those trees there are, we do not know. There may be millions of them in parts of Brazil not yet well explored.

Vast numbers of the wild trees have been tapped, however, and the gathering of rubber in Brazil still goes on, though it is not nearly so important as it used to be.

Agents or "gang bosses" of rubber-shipping companies hire workers—largely Indians—to go into the forests. Each man has some small cups, a good-sized bucket, and a hatchet. With the hatchet he cuts a gash in the bark of a rubber tree. Below the gash he places one of the cups, then goes to the next tree.

A good worker will do that to from 90 to 100 trees per day. He may walk several miles in a day, for the rubber trees are widely scattered through the forest. At the end of his rounds, he has a good deal of milky juice in his bucket, juice which he has collected in the tin cups.

The milky juice is known as "latex," pronounced "lay-tex." It runs through tubes or veins in the bark of the tree, and is not the same thing as sap. Latex seems to be helpful to the tree because it closes breaks in the bark. In this way it kills or keeps out insect enemies which would like to lay eggs in open places in the bark.

About one-third of the latex is rubber. The rest is mostly water. The latex might be boiled to get rid of the water, but that would hurt the rubber. For the same reason, the rubber would be harmed if placed in sunlight where the water would evaporate.

Long, long ago, natives of Brazil learned a way to get rid of the water and keep the rubber in good condition. This method may be spoken of as "smoking the latex," and it still is used in some places.

Dipping a paddle in the bucket of latex, the worker places it over a smoking funnel. The smoke is produced by burning palm nuts. As the paddle is turned in the smoke, the water in the latex is dried away, and a thin coating of rubber is left on the wood.

Again and again, the paddle is dipped into the latex, then turned in the smoke. At last there is quite a ball of rubber around it.

The rubber balls made in this way differ a great deal in size. Usually they weigh from 10 to 100 pounds. Balls of record size weigh several hundred pounds.

One huge ball was made by an Indian and his two sons during a period of five months. It contained 1,118 pounds of rubber. This great ball was placed in a boat by the Indians, and they traveled 25 days down the river before they reached a market town where it could be sold.

Women should be cautious in office or other work at this time. There will be bitter competition for positions. Men will seek white collar jobs with organized persistence, astrologers foretell.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a year of average progress, but love affairs may interfere with business success among the young. Newspaper employees should profit.

Children born on this day probably will be high-strung, temperamental and gifted. Subjects of this sign of Cancer often show unusual ability to reach the top of any profession they choose.

BEN LEWIS

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

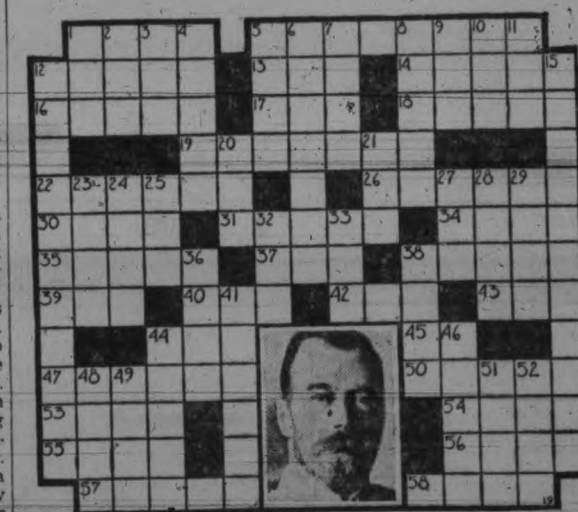

DEAR MISS DIX—Does the modern man no longer expect to support his wife? I am a good-looking girl with a good job and I have had several proposals of marriage, but in every case the man has added: "I shall expect you to keep your position so that we can have everything we want and run around and have a good time." Several of these men have been well-to-do, amply able to take care of a wife, but they evidently had no intention of doing so. When I marry I want to be a homemaker and to have children and to devote my time to them instead of being an office worker. I want a husband who will bring home the bacon while I fry it. What is the matter with the modern man, anyway? MODERN GIRL.

Answer—You can't have your cake and eat it, too, and when Mary showed that she could support herself, George let her do it. Of course, the man argues that the girl who supported herself before marriage can just as well do it after marriage, and that there is no reason for him to toil to pay for the bread and butter of one who can perfectly well provide herself with cake. Also, he argues that their combined earnings will give them many more luxuries than they could have if he footed all the bills.

All of which is true enough in theory, only it doesn't work out well in practice. In the first place, it is giving the girl a rotten deal because it is forcing a two-time job on her, for the man who expects his wife to pay half of the grocery bills also expects her to make a home for him. He expects her not only to make the dough but also to bake it. He feels as much defrauded if she isn't a first-class cook and homemaker as he would be if he were married to a domestic woman who had nothing to do but keep house.

The old order was that the man should be the provider and the woman the homemaker. You can't get behind that, nor improve on it. DOROTHY DIX.

Says Finance Change Needed

Britain Would Invest Here If Conditions Different, G. H. Stevens Finds

Canada stands high in the estimation of the British people, but there is a general feeling that the Dominion must go to work and straighten out its financial situation, G. H. Stevens, manager of the Royal Bank here, said on his return from a trip to the British Isles.

"There is plenty of money available in the Old Country which is seeking investment," he said. "There is the opportunity to attract it this way, but under existing conditions that is not possible. The railway situation in Canada and the unemployment conditions in a country of vast resources deter the wide-awake Britisher from making investments here."

With Mrs. Stevens, he spent four months in Europe, including a 4,000-mile motor trip through England and Scotland and a week in France.

During their visit they spent some time with their son, Kenneth, who has been in the Royal

FORMED SIXTY YEARS TODAY

Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade, R.C.A., Will Celebrate Diamond Jubilee Tonight

Since July 19, 1878, the date of its formation, the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade R.C.A., has played an important part in the Canadian defence organization and this evening from 5.30 to 7.30 officers and ex-officers will gather in the officers' mess of the Artillery Regiment at the Armouries to celebrate the diamond jubilee of the brigade.

One of the original officers of the body was David Garrick McNaughton who is still residing in Victoria and who will be guest of honor at the "at home" to be held this evening.

Mr. McNaughton retired with the rank of captain. He has continued to take a deep interest in the brigade of which he was a member. His son is at present, major and brigade paymaster of the force and has been attached to the unit for 33 years.

He was among the early officers in the Canadian forces being assigned to the Garrison Artillery here with the number 191. Captain McNaughton assisted in the mounting of guns at Finlayson Point, Victoria Point, Macaulay Point and Brothers Island during the war scare around May, 1878.

Of the 50 men and three officers of the original battery established here, only two remain today. They are Mr. McNaughton and Frank Partridge, formerly of the Government Printing office.

The Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade R.C.A. is at present under the command of Lieut. Col. Vincent McKenna, M.C.

Come Here From Eastern Canada

Visitors from many parts of Canada today filled the register of the Empress Hotel. It is not often that Canadian travelers exceed in number visitors from the United States, yet that is the case today.

Canadians at the Empress today include Mr. and Mrs. J. Brill, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bentley, London; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fox and daughters, Toronto; Judge T. H. Barton, Toronto; Mrs. W. C. Skelding and Misses Skelding, Toronto; Mrs. H. Moyer, Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. W. J. McLean, London; J. S. Willis and G. E. Landon, Toronto; Miss Violet Milstead, Toronto; Miss L. Milstead, Calgary; Miss Muriel Hewitt, Toronto; Charles H. Moore, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. George Pellatt and Mr. and Mrs. George Pellatt Jr., Vancouver; Dr. and Mrs. R. R. McIntyre, Calgary; Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Carson and two children, Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Smith, Premier, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. MacKinnon and two children, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. Caldwell, Galt, Ont.; Miss Mary Phillips, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Weeks, Toronto; Dr. Helen P. Davidson, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Clark, Winnipeg; George Sanworth, A. J. B. Fell, R. A. Perkins, N. D. Lambert, H. E. A. Woodbury, J. J. Kenny, S. J. Bowman, Vancouver; Miss Irma Young and Miss J. Forster, Vancouver.

The main cause of the trouble, the speaker said, was the deadlock between the provincial and federal governments. The work and wages policy put the present government in power, he said, and he believed the government should stick by that policy. Relief must continue until industry could absorb the unemployed or the government provided more work. He said he believed it was a short-sighted policy to send some of the men back to their home towns outside of the province. The men could be used to develop the province, and it would be necessary in the future to pay high sums in bringing such men in to do that work.

Mr. Church said the men were thoroughly organized under able leadership, and they did not lack money or food. In speaking to many of those that were in the post office, Mr. Church said he found that they had taken over in determination not to cause any violence. With reference to the eviction, the speaker said that the police "work as cleanly and as efficiently as any police force could do."

In closing, Mr. Church expressed the opinion the trouble was not over, and that it was not a battle with the unemployed, but a battle of the unemployed.

J. G. MacFarlane, president, was in the chair. Walter M. Walker and Austin Curtis were unanimously elected as delegates to the convention at Tacoma, starting August 14 for three days. Ken Ferguson and Art Dowell were elected as alternates. The president, Mr. MacFarlane, will also be a delegate.

Premier Pattullo returned this morning from Vancouver, where he spent yesterday on government business. Last night he opened a new sports building at New Westminster, opening a lacrosse game before 6,000 persons.

MISSING MAN'S BODY IS FOUND

The body of James Venables, 29, 2832 Rose Street, missing since July 3, was taken from the waters of the inner harbor by the city police this morning.

The body was seen by H. E. Van Froome, Ritz Hotel, who was cruising in the harbor in his launch. It was taken out near the McMaster Horton Shingle Mill ferry slip.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart was notified and ordered removal of the body to Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors.

THREE MONTHS IS THEFT TERM

Frank C. Wilson was sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Magistrate Hall in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of stealing narcotics from Dr. Hermann M. Robertson.

Wilson was originally charged with theft of narcotics and an instrument case valued at more than $25, but the magistrate held there had been no proof that Wilson stole the instruments. He therefore convicted him on the charge of stealing goods valued at less than $25.

Wilson is now under sentence of one year and $200 fine for a drug charge and the three months will commence at the expiration of this term.

The Emmanuel Church Bible class held its annual picnic at the Japanese Tea Gardens on Saturday afternoon. Credit is due the leader, George Waites, for his kindness to the class.

STEAM-ELECTRIC RAIL ENGINE NEXT

New Type Locomotive Coming For Fast Streamlined Trains

SALT LAKE CITY—A new, giant steam turbine-electric locomotive, of a design different from any locomotive now in operation, will soon be placed in service on the Union Pacific, it was reported to the meetings here today of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The huge unit, creating at least 5,000-horsepower, will virtually be a steam generating electric plant on wheels. The locomotive, now under construction, will generate 45,000 pounds of steam an hour at a pressure of 1,500 pounds to the square inch, said Charles P. Kahler, system electrical engineer of the Union Pacific.

This high pressure steam will drive a main turbine spinning at 12,500 revolutions per minute. The turbine, in turn, will drive an electrical generator at 1,250 revolutions per minute. This electrical power will drive the locomotive.

The steam circulates through a closed circuit. After leaving the turbine it goes to an air-cooled condenser, is there turned back into water, and sent back to the boiler.

Mr. Gibson will remain in Victoria until the end of August, except for a short trip to Idaho in a few weeks' time. This fall he will go to McGill to carry on his last two years of study under Dr. Wilder Penfield.

W. GIBSON IS BACK IN CITY

Tells of Conflict in Views on Britain's Foreign Policy

There is a belief in government circles in England that there is only one possible policy for the country—that of Chamberlain—and in the same circles it is regarded as the policy of the Dominions, William Gibson said today on his return to Victoria after two years spent in research work at Oxford University.

Speaking of the belief as dangerous, Mr. Gibson said that there had been general indignation and disbelief when a group of Canadians had suggested at a Royal Empire Society function that Britain might have two foreign policies, and that Canada might prefer the other one.

Among the mass of the people Prime Minister Chamberlain's name was plain anathema, he said. There was also a growing feeling on the part of the public that there was too close a link between Mrs. Nancy Astor's pro-German Cliveden set and Windsor Castle, he added.

W. GIBSON IS BACK IN CITY

Tells of Conflict in Views on Britain's Foreign Policy

There is a belief in government circles in England that there is only one possible policy for the country—that of Chamberlain—and in the same circles it is regarded as the policy of the Dominions, William Gibson said today on his return to Victoria after two years spent in research work at Oxford University.

Speaking of the belief as dangerous, Mr. Gibson said that there had been general indignation and disbelief when a group of Canadians had suggested at a Royal Empire Society function that Britain might have two foreign policies, and that Canada might prefer the other one.

Among the mass of the people Prime Minister Chamberlain's name was plain anathema, he said. There was also a growing feeling on the part of the public that there was too close a link between Mrs. Nancy Astor's pro-German Cliveden set and Windsor Castle, he added.

AGREE ON REARMING

Mr. Gibson found the mass of the British people agreed only on one thing, the need to rearm as fast as possible. However, there was a suspicion that the air raid precaution movement, theoretically to train the public in anti-bomb and anti-gas methods which were notoriously useless, was really intended for purely regimentative purposes.

As an indication of the growth of political feeling in England, Mr. Gibson said the most remarkable thing at Oxford was the number of political demonstrations. Every Sunday night St. Giles, the university town's Hyde Park Corner, was thronged with undergraduates listening to soap-box orators.

Mr. Gibson has been at New College, Oxford, for the last two years doing research work on the nervous system. He has also visited laboratories on the continent of Europe examining methods.

The things which most impressed him were conditions in Sweden and the progress being made in research work in Moscow.

PROGRESS IN RUSSIA

He thought the Russians' research was the equal of anything he had seen anywhere on earth, and their equipment was immensely superior to anything Oxford had.

Their progress was especially great in the study of the sympathetic nervous system, under Pavlov. Most remarkable was their technique of studying living organisms and taking micro-movie pictures of them.

Much of the Russian progress in research work was due to the country's entirely different attitude on the subject. He saw a striking illustration of this in the case of a surgeon who had come across a problem in his clinical practice and wanted to work on it in the laboratory. He was paid his full surgeon's salary while he was doing his research, in striking contrast to the attitude in other countries where the doctor had to choose between giving up his practice or not studying the problem which interested him.

He was also struck with the number of women doing medical research in Russia.

SWEDISH PROBLEM

Sweden impressed Mr. Gibson for the development of the co-operative movement. However, he found the system running into difficulties in its attempts to take over heavy industry, in which it had been balked so far. The difficulty was so great that Professor Childs had been forced to revise his famous book, "Sweden, the Middle Way."

Oxford the town had changed a good deal in the last five years, and Oxford the university very little, he said.

The change in the town had come with the great growth of the nearby Cowley factory of Morris Motors. The standing joke now was: "Oxford is now the Latin Quarter of Cowley."

The only physical change in the university was the building on the new Bodleian Library, designed to store books for the next 200 years without addition.

"The life of bicycles and tea grows on one," he said of university life in general.

He said showing of "A Yank at Oxford," United States picture, featuring Robert Taylor, had been forbidden at Oxford for fear the undergraduates would rip the theatre apart, which they did three years ago when a similar picture played there.

Mr. Gibson had intended to revisit Spain, where he studied a few weeks after the outbreak of the civil war two years ago, but the fall of Castellon had made it impossible for him to do so. He said the best commentary on the revolution was the Duchess of Atholl's "Spotlight on Spain."

Mr. Gibson will remain in Victoria until the end of August, except for a short trip to Idaho in a few weeks' time. This fall he will go to McGill to carry on his last two years of study under Dr. Wilder Penfield.

NEW DEFENCES FOR VALENCIA

Loyalist Forces Fall Back Before Francoists Without Serious Losses

HENDAYE, France (AP)—Picked "suicide squads" fought a desperate delaying action through the Espina Mountains today to cover the retreat of the main body of the Spanish government army to new defence lines before Valencia.

Two insurgent armies, advancing down either side of the main highway from Teruel, were crushing the government's fortifications between them.

As a result of the rearguard action, however, the retreat to a new line of hasty fortifications before Viver, 34 miles northeast of Valencia, was being effected without serious losses.

Will Support Clemency Move

Magistrate Sentences Youths to One Year, But Willing to Aid Paroles

Robert Wallace and Frank Dunegan, youths who pleaded guilty in the City Police Court last week to charges of stealing cars, were each sentenced to one year's imprisonment by Magistrate Hall this morning, with the understanding the magistrate would assist any move for clemency from the Minister of Justice.

In imposing minimum terms for this offence on the two accused, the magistrate said he was unable to grant suspended sentence since both had previous convictions for which they had received leniency from the court. Wallace had four previous convictions in the juvenile court and Dunegan had a previous conviction in the County Court.

The magistrate told the youths their previous records stood against them. He said he was convinced, however, that they had been led astray under the influence of other youths in these cases and for that reason he would support any move to secure paroles from Ottawa.

Lanes Lose In Cricket Match

LONDON (CP Cable)—Featured by a brilliant double-century by Wally Hammond, Gloucestershire made a remarkable recovery to take first-innings points from Lancashire today, incidentally forcing the northern county to surrender second place in the county cricket championship table to Middlesex.

Yorkshire, county champions, was defeated by eight wickets by Middlesex yesterday. It was the first reverse of the season for the Yorkshiremen who retain leadership by a slim margin.

After Lancashire had declared its first innings yesterday with a score of 426 for nine wickets, Gloucestershire, with Hammond 87 not out, had lost seven wickets for 285 runs at the close of play. England's captain today carried his total to 271, Gloucestershire scoring 561.

The touring Australians proved far too strong for Nottinghamshire, winning by 412 runs. Don Bradman ran up 144 runs in his second innings to complete 2,000 for the season.

Scores follow: Lancashire 426 for nine wickets declared and 165 for one; Gloucestershire 561, at Bristol. Sussex 124 and 398; Essex 535 for six, at Colchester. Kent 337 and 202; Surrey 33 and 230 for four, at the Oval.

Hampshire 97 and 301 for nine declared; Northamptonshire 190 and 133 for six, at Northampton. Worcestershire 132 and 196; Warwickshire 190 for seven, at Birmingham.

Richardson of Calgary saw service last year. Jim Hogan of Jasper, the 1938 Alberta junior champion, is the newcomer.

The Saskatchewan entry presents an even division of veterans and newcomers. Dr. George Bigelow, the 1938 provincial champion, was low-scoring for his team at Ottawa last year. With him are Ken Smith, former competitor in Willingdon Cup play, and the newcomers, W. Spriggs, a left-hander from North Battleford, and Herb Kilburn, from Saskatoon.

Ernie Palmer of Winnipeg, winner last week of the Manitoba amateur golf championship, is a member of the Manitoba team. Playing with him are Foster Woolley, Herb Pickard and Allan Boes.

The order of finish in 1937 was: Quebec 619, Ontario 620, British Columbia 630, Manitoba 634, Alberta 644, New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island 637, Saskatchewan 686.

Paul Thompson, Chicago Ace, Pays City Visit to See Lester Patrick

Paul Thompson, sharp-shooting right winger for the Stanley Cup winning Chicago Blackhawks, looks for a heavy season in the National Hockey League next year.

At the Empress Hotel on a short visit today the newly-appointed assistant manager and coach of the "Cinderella team" figures on a farm system, to be used for the first time by the Windy City next year, as a good way to bring up replacements for the veteran club.

"We're going to try to win," Paul said noncommittally as he discussed the coming season's prospects. The man experts call the most nearly perfect right-winger since Bill Cook, has ambitions to head the scoring parade in which he finished well up last year. That, and his duties as assistant manager and coach will give him plenty to keep him busy, he figures.

Here on a holiday trip, chiefly to see Lester Patrick, Thompson looked in grand shape. He's playing amateur ball in Vancouver with his brother "Tiny," as summer relaxation.

During harvest time he expects to toughen up pitching hay on the Thompson farm at Langdon, Alberta.

FARM SYSTEM

The Chicago farm system will operate through an amateur team in Muskegan, Michigan, and the St. Paul outfit in the American Association.

Thirty-two years old, and in his 13th N.H.L. year, Thompson has not yet felt the going getting harder.

He has a high opinion of both Muzz and Lynn Patrick as hockey players, but thinks brothers should play on different teams.

"I think Muzz is a great prospect, and Lynn is a great hockey player developed with phenomenal speed," he remarked.

Speaking of his own family connections in the game, he declared firing rifle shots at "Tiny" different from boring in on any other goalkeeper. "But he'd give his left arm to win, and so would I," he added.

Thompson hopes to land a managerial job when his playing days are over and to retire on the coast when he comes to the end of the hockey trail. He favors Vancouver for his residence, having spent the last few summers there. But he's still willing "to follow the birds."

SHARE LEAD IN BOXLA LEAGUE

Salmonbellies and Adanacs in Top Berth; Indians Reinstated

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—It was a neck-and-neck race between New Westminster Adanacs and their ignominious rivals, the Canadian champion Salmonbellies for the leadership of the intercity box lacrosse league today.

At the same time the league was back to full five-team strength, with North Shore Indians reinstated by the intercity lacrosse commission.

Salmonbellies pulled into a tie with Adanacs here last night in the newly enlarged sports arena, which was officially opened by Premier T. D. Pattullo in a short ceremony. The necessary points came when the Canadian champions rattled in nine goals in the final frame for a 16 to 9 victory.

A few hours before the game, the lacrosse commission, at a meeting accepted a bond posted by Andy Paul, Indians' manager, and reinstated the team.

The commission Friday night declared Indians' playing bond forfeited and suspended the team until another bond was posted, because of Indians' action in drawing their team from the floor seven minutes from full time in a game with Burrards last week.
